Decision Announced On New Conductor For PHS Orchestra

The controversy over the Princeton Regional School Board's refusal to renew the contract of Gail Edwards, orchestra conductor at Princeton High School for the past two years, appears to have ended with the hiring of Robert H. Loughran, 30, a resident of Malvern, Pa. Mr. Loughran's appointment is expected to be approved by the School Board at its next meeting, scheduled for September 26.

At two School Board meetings in the late spring, several dozen parents and students strongly objected to the administrative decision not to renew Mrs. Edwards' con-

Curbside Recycling Begins Next Week

Curbside recycling will come to Princeton next week. The State-mandated program, which is run by the Mercer County Improvement Authority (MCIA), will begin Monday in Princeton Borough and Tuesday in Princeton Township. From then on, recyclables will be picked up every other week on these same days.

Mayor Barbara Sigmund's decision to have the Borough's Public Works Department deliver the yellow topless recycling cans means that every Borough household should receive a can by week's end. Anyone who hasn't had one delivered by Friday can pick

As Road Reconstruction Restricts Travel, Princeton Merchants Worry about Business

The Borough's ambitious five-year road reconstruction plan rolls forward. But in the distance can be heard the sound of grumbling, much coming from downtown merchants. The complaints about the awful condition of Princeton's roads ("No signs are needed to tell you when you've arrived in Princeton. The potholes give it away.") have abated. And in their stead are cries that closed roads have kept shoppers away and hurt business.

In the eye of this storm — where he has been since taking over as Borough Engineer in 1984 — is Carl Peters, who has managed to remain calm in the face of the barrage of raised voices and angry complaints.

Concern about the Borough's road reconstruction program shifted last week to the Township, where a number of Princeton Shopping Center merchants complained that the closing of North Harrison Street was hurting their business.

Mr. Peters had gone for a week's vacation with his three children the week the Harrison Street work began. He acknowledged that, "When I came back from vacation I expected more work to be done. The productivity wasn't what I expected."

Fueling the merchants' annoyance with the Borough was the fact that Mayor Sigmund wasn't at the meeting they had called. She, too, had left for a brief vacation, a holiday she had postponed to work out arrangements for the Borough to receive recycling cans in time for the beginning of recycling this Monday.

When Mr. Peters returned from his week away, he arranged for the construction crew on Harrison Street to work an extra two hours a day. "We did not recommend night work," he said. "This would require a change in contract, and would cost more. In addition, this is a residential area."

The road should be open by the end of next week, said Mr. Peters. When the job is completed, the Nassau/Harrison Street intersection will have been widened to provide more turning room for trucks and buses. It will be a better and safer traffic plan, he said, adding that there will now be curbs and a sidewalk on both sides of Harrison Street.

"Aside from Washington Road, Harrison Street was the most complained-about roadway in the Borough," said the Borough Engineer.

Although delayed because of several factors, the reconstruction of a number of roads in the western section should be completed by the end of next week, said Mr. Peters. These are Springdale Road, Lafayette Road, Hunter Road, Library Place, Boudinot Street, Morven Place, and Lilac Lane.

The difficulties started in June, 1988, when the bids came in. There was a problem with the low bidder, which delayed the award of the con-

Question Is Asked: Should Morven Be Museum or Mansion?

Articles in New Jersey newspapers criticizing the maintenance of New Jersey historic sites, and citing Morven as a prime example, have raised anew the issue of whether the historic mansion should be a museum or the governor's mansion.

Morven, located next door to Borough Hall on Stockton Street, is the ancestral home of the three generations of the Stockton family. Originally built in about 1758 by Richard Stockton, one of the five signers of the Declaration of Independence from New Jersey, the house has been the site of many noteworthy events important to the State and to the development of the nation.

It was given to the State in 1951 for use as an executive mansion or a museum. It served as the official residence for New Jersey governors from 1953 to 1981, when it was given to the New Jersey Historical Society to be used as a satellite museum. At the time, Drumthwacket, further along Stockton Street, was designated the official executive mansion.

Morven was returned to the State in 1986, and the Department of State, through the tract. A renewal would have granted her tenure.

In addition, a letter was distributed in the spring to parents and students involved in the music program. The letter, signed by three Princeton parents, said that Mrs. Edwards, who took over her post following the death of Portia Sonnenfeld, "has worked hard to continue the superb quality of the orchestral program" and that she has been a loyal friend and strong supporter of her students.

Mr. Loughran holds a bachelor's degree in music performance from Gettysburg College and a master of music degree in orchestral conducting from Northwestern University. He also studied at the Vienna Music Academy and the Accademia Musicale Chigiana in Siena, Italy.

Women Bicyclists Feted On Arrival in Princeton

The five Princeton University alumnae who bicycled 3,700 miles across the United States to raise money to be divided between the field hockey and women's lacrosse programs at Princeton and Literacy Volunteers of America were feted by Squibb Corp. at a champagne reception last Thursday at the Public Library.

Constance Drayton, Martha Russo and Suzanne Preston, all of the Class of 1985, and Beth Finney and Susan McCarter of 1986 cycled up Washington Road into Princeton Thursday afternoon. After greeting parents and friends, they uncorked a bottle of champagne and plunged into the Woodrow Wilson School pool to celebrate the end of a ride that had begun eight weeks earlier in Seattle.

The ride was sponsored by Squibb Corp. which strung up a banner across the pool saying "Welcome Princeton Women on a Roll." Squibb also hosted a reception for the women later in the afternoon at the Public Library. According to Steven Forry, public affairs manager at Squibb, it was Ms. Russo who approached the pharmaceutical company for corporate sponsorship as the five women were planning their adventure.

"When she came through my door," Mr. Forry said, "and requested that we underwrite the trip, I asked that another charity besides the hockey and lacrosse teams benefit from the trek. When she came back, having researched several possibilities, and suggested the Literacy Volunteers of America, I was thrilled." Squibb pledged $1 a mile to be divided between the two recipients and also donated $500 as a traveling stipend.

$25,000 to $30,000 Raised. At the reception at the Public Library, which has a volunteer adult literacy program, Mr. Forry presented a check for $1,850 to Beth Bozman, head women's field hockey coach at Princeton, and an identical check to John Murphy, a literacy volunteer at the library. According to Ms. Russo, the bicycle riders raised between $25,000 and $30,000 from an estimated 250 pledges.

The ride began in rain and mist, which made crossing the Cascade Mountain range slippery and slow-going. Hoping to be boosted along by tail winds as they crossed the Great Plains, they encountered head winds instead. Nonetheless, they often covered 80 miles a day.

Carrying bedrolls and tents on their bikes, they slept outside except for one night in North Dakota when they stayed in a motel. They did not carry food or cooking equipment but ate at diners and restaurants. "That's how we got to meet and talk to so many wonderful people," Ms. McCarter said.

Sometimes they stayed at the homes of members of the Friends of Princeton Field Hockey, and they also sought out Literacy Volunteers of America centers. Part of the purpose of the trip was to increase awareness of the number of adults in this country who are unable to read. At the reception, Township Mayor Phyllis Marchand presented a proclamation declaring last Thursday Literacy Volunteer Day in Princeton in their honor.

Ted Golfopoulos, representing Peter A. Inverso, president of the Mercer County Freeholders, presented a plaque to each of the women. Mr. Murphy thanked the women for their efforts in calling attention to the need for literacy volunteers and said that individuals who care about something and take action "do make a difference."

"Bake-at-Home" Pizza New in Palmer Square

Among the several new stores due to open this month in Palmer Square is Mom's Bake-at-Home Pizza. Owned by Erik Schoemaker, 33 Tyson Lane, the store will sell unbaked pizza. It will be located in 30 Palmer Square East, the former site of Village Collection, which closed about a month ago.

This week, Santa Fe Pottery opened in the Palmer Square West store formerly occupied by Harbinger's. Palmer Square's Petie Duncan said the shop, which sells pottery, textiles, and other items with a southwestern theme, will lease the space until January 1.

The owners, Susan and Jim Kelly of Edison, have a kiosk in Woodbridge Mall. The new store will be a testing ground for them, said Ms. Duncan, to see if there is sufficient market for them to rent a larger space.

A national chain already located in Princeton will move into the store after January 1. Although Ms. Duncan did not wish to name the chain, sources close to Palmer Square have identified it as belonging to Laura Ashley.

Guaranty Bank of Princeton will open on September 15 in Collins' 100 Palmer Square complex, on Hulfish Street. A woman's clothing store, Celia Boutique, is expected to open there by mid-October. It is owned by Celia Kiss of Belle Mead.

Palmer Square North, currently under construction on Hulfish Street, will have a Gap and a Gap Kids store in by Christmas.

Ms. Duncan is very hopeful that one of the other new tenants in Palmer Square North will be a restaurant. Negotiations with the prospective tenant, which Ms. Duncan declined to name, are currently under way.

Borough Man Arrested On Second Sex Charge

William J. Bauer, 31, was arrested at 2:40 Tuesday morning at his home at 86 Spruce Street by Borough Patrolmen Ronald E. Wohlschlegel and Curtis Vanchoff, who were executing a Township arrest warrant charging him with sexual assault. It was the second time within the past month that Mr. Bauer had been arrested on the same charge.

He is presently being held in Township Jail, pending his arraignment in Township court. The warrant charges Mr. Bauer with the sexual assault of a 7-year-old Township girl on July 1 in the Community Park Pool. He allegedly grabbed her buttocks. The complaint was signed by Det. John Petrone Jr.

According to Lt. Samuel Bianco of the Township, Mr. Bauer was first arrested August 6 on a similar charge that allegedly he had sexually assaulted a 9-year-old girl in the Community Park Pool. He

Police to Enforce School Crossing Laws

With the opening of school this week, Police Chief Michael Carnevale warns motorists that his department's Traffic Enforcement Unit will be out monitoring violations at the Borough's 11 school crossing sites.

Police, he said, will focus on these areas: failure to yield at school crossings, failure to obey crossing guard commands, and failure to stop for school buses taking on or discharging students. The latter, Chief Carnevale commented, "creates a very serious safety problem."

Police will also be on the alert for speeding and careless driving around school crossings.

"Every year," continued Chief Carnevale, "we have problems with drivers who will not take into consideration the tough task crossing guards have in getting kids across the street. Some totally disregard their commands."

"We want to address this situation early so drivers will be more responsive to the safety of school children."

was released on bail and at a hearing August 23 in Township court, his case was bound over for action by a Mercer County Grand Jury.

As a result of the police investigation of that incident, they were able to ascertain, Lt. Bianco said, that Mr. Bauer was also involved in the earlier incident at the pool.

room in Hamilton Hall on the University campus and stole $60 belonging to a student occupant, and a long-sleeved silk blouse valued at $98 was shoplifted from the Hemisphere store on Hulfish Street.

A lock was cut to steal a Princeton resident's $400 bicycle that was parked August 25 outside the Engineering Quadrangle building on Olden Street.

Envelope with $129 Stolen From Store Dropoff Safe

An envelope containing $129 was stolen last week from a dropoff safe in a Witherspoon Street store.

Chief Michael Carnevale commented that apparently someone had figured out a way to retrieve the envelope without having to force open the safe. Saying police were still conducting an investigation, Chief Carnevale declined to identify the store. The safe, he said, was in an area in the store where only employees should have access.

A West Windsor resident lost $50 last week when someone took her wallet from her purse which she had left in a rear room in a Nassau Street store used by employees as a coat room.

The wallet also contained 11 credit cards, and police have determined that one of the cards has since been used twice: once to purchase items valued at $308, and again for a $316 purchase. There are no suspects.

Last week, an intruder entered an unlocked dormitory

After his tan moped broke down Friday, a Princeton High student left it overnight on the north side of the high school. When he returned the next afternoon, the $300 moped was missing.

The same day, Borough police said, a friend of the victim saw the moped being operated on Birch Avenue and had a confrontation with the driver in attempting to recover it. The incident was reported to Township police but, as yet, the moped has not been recovered.

Township police report that a Township resident last week left her purse behind after completing a call from a pay phone near Thrift Drug in the Princeton Shopping Center. When she realized what she had done, she returned but not in time; her purse containing $200 and credit cards was missing.

A barking dog may have caused a burglar to abort an attempt to enter a Hamilton Avenue home early last week. Police report the occupant heard the sound of breaking glass a few minutes before midnight, and her dog began to bark. She called police.

A search of the area failed to uncover any suspect, but did reveal that an enclosed rear yard had been entered and a basement window broken. No entry was gained into the house.

"He was probably frightened off by the barking dog," commented Lt. Mario Musso.

Car Hoods Scratched While Parked on John St.

The hoods of two cars were scratched while they were parked early Monday morning in the John Street driveway of one of the victims.

According to police, the resident heard a noise in her driveway around 1:45, looked out and saw two female trespassers in the area. A check revealed that the hood of her 1981 sedan had been scratched as well as the hood of another car owned by a second party.

Police were able to question the two suspects, who denied any involvement with the vandalism. "It seems clear from the police investigation," Chief Michael Carnevale said, "that the two suspects are strangers to the area and have no connection with the victims." He said the police investigation is continuing.

Between 1 and 7:30 Thursday morning, the passenger side window of a 1986 Pontiac was smashed while it was parked in a University lot off Charlton Street.

"Nothing was taken and there were things to be taken," commented Chief Carnevale. He identified the owner as a resident of Fairless Hills, Pa.

In still another act of malicious damage involving a motor vehicle last week, the side view mirror of a 1981 Ford owned by a Princeton resident was ripped off while it was parked overnight in the lot adjacent to the Princeton Public Library. There was no estimate of the replacement cost.

Good Deeds for Library Count in Eagle Award

Public Library officials still can't believe their good luck: John Tierno turning up this summer with a band of friends and fellow Boy Scouts to do some of the maintenance jobs that were eliminated when the library budget had to be trimmed.

John is the 18-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. David Tierno of 110 Dodds Lane. He is entering his senior year at Princeton High School this fall and is a member of Troop 43 which meets at Riverside School under Frank Fornoff, scout master. As he was casting about for a project for the Eagle Scout award, Patty Sofronoff suggested that he do something for the Public Library. Mrs. Sofronoff had read of the budget cuts affecting all library departments in a TOWN TOPICS article.

"I liked the idea," John said. "I like the library and use it a lot for research." The Eagle Scout award requires 100 hours of community service and organizing others to take part in the project. John consulted with Sue Rock, assistant director of the library, as to what needed to be done and enlisted the help of several friends as well as troop members who were not away on scout trips.

They dusted the tops of all the book shelves in the library (any householder can imagine how grimy those shelves must have been). They washed all the windows they could reach both inside and out, including all the windows in the children's room. They also washed and waxed the tile floor of the upstairs meeting room, using professional equipment borrowed from the Princeton Regional Schools maintenance department.

TO THE RESCUE: John Tierno seemed like a miracle worker to the Princeton Public Library as he tackled deferred maintenance tasks both inside and outside the library. The neatly weeded euonymus behind him is testament to his efforts.

Professional washing and waxing of this floor, which is subject to food spills, foot traffic, chair scraping and table moving, is something the library likes to have done once a year. This year, when the two municipalities could not give the library the total allocation the director felt was needed, attending to this uncarpeted area was one of the line items that got cut.

Outdoors, John and his friends tackled the weeds and overgrown plantings all around the perimeter of the building. Using hand clippers they pruned back overgrown euonymus from around the trees and exterior walls. This may have been the most onerous and time-consuming of the tasks they faced, and the results may be seen in the way the euonymus is now neatly trimmed along the sidewalk by the parking lot.

John says he is particularly appreciative of the help and advice given by Patricia Harding, mother of one of his friends, and by Bill Karch, director of facilities for the Princeton Regional School District, who loaned him the necessary equipment which Tim Potocki, foreman, showed him how to use.

He says he personally put in 42½ hours on the project, and his friends 82½, making the sum total well in excess of the 100 hours required. The friends included Rosa Gross, Elizabeth Scott, Naomi Robison, Marissa Taylor, Jason Harding, Ian Reddy, Doug Sensenig, Phil Kronengold, Nicholas Owens, Paul Hodges, Jenn Lorimer and Steve Landau.

For her part, Ms. Rock is ecstatic. "He is the nicest young man, and he did a wonderful job. These are all things that needed doing badly and that we just couldn't attend to ourselves." She was particularly enthusiastic about the weeding and clipping, and by the responsible manner in which John and his friends went about their tasks.

Volunteers Sought

The Stony Brook-Millstone Watershed Association is looking for volunteers to help staff the Buttinger Environmental Awareness Center. The center is open on Wednesdays through Saturdays, 10 a.m. to 5 p.m.

The volunteers will help greet visitors, introducing them to the Watershed Association, and orienting them to both the center itself and the property. Volunteering will include demonstrating exhibits for children or adults, running the nature shop, answering phones, helping in the reading room and other activities. For those interested there will be an orientation session this fall followed by two training sessions.

Volunteers will not only be helping others to discover the wonders of nature but also to learn about environmental issues. Anyone interested in volunteering any time should call Education Director, Jeff Hoagland at 737-7592.

It may have been the first time that the library has been singled out for an Eagle Scout project, but she thinks it sets a very nice precedent for others to follow.

Children's Attractions At Hopewell Harvest Fair

The Hopewell Harvest Fair will offer a bounty of attractions for children of all ages on September 16, on the grounds of the Hopewell Elementary School, from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. The three-year-old fair includes dozens of booth games, special performers, a free petting zoo with exotic animals, carnival and pony rides, old-fashioned buckboard rides and pre-school egg hunt.

Children's events range from the competitive to the creative, with several new games making their debut at the Hopewell Harvest Fair. Pre-schoolers can join the scramble in their own exclusive egg-hunt, then load up on prizes at the lollipop pull, apples in the haystack, and a variety of other games.

SEE YOU AT THE FAIR: "Uncle Floyd" Vivino, star of CTN TV's Uncle Floyd Show, will appear with his unique style of music, puppetry, and vaudeville madness at the Hopewell Harvest Fair, September 16, at the Hopewell Elementary School.

They can also create a masterpiece at the cookie decorating or edible jewelry booths. The whole family can join in pumpkin painting, or create their own scarecrow for a unique autumn decoration.

Older children and adults can try the new Kooshball Toss or Sliders, and compete for great prizes in the Frisbee Toss, Basketball Shoot and other games requiring as much skill as luck.

The entire family can compete for prizes offered by the Hopewell Harvest Fair Country Games. Games include three-legged, wheelbarrow and sack races, an egg toss, and the popular pie-eating contest.

Many varieties of animals will be available at the C & R Ranch's free petting zoo. The Somerset County Running Rodents 4-H Club will sponsor an exhibit of exotic rabbits and other furry creatures. There will also be pony rides and old-fashioned horse-drawn buckboard wagon rides.

A special entertainment tent will be set up for continuous stage shows catering to young audiences. Magician Walt Kaptain, folksinger and puppeteer Linda Klikeman, and balloonatic Mark Davis will give audiences a chance to participate in the fun.

The Hopewell Harvest Fair will also include an antique market, artists alley, craft fair, and flea market, a horseshoe tournament, knockerball tournament, wooden car derby, historical and educational exhibits and continuous live entertainment on stage.

Admission is free. Raindate is September 17. For more information call 466-3967.

Antique Farm Equipment At "Days of the Past"

The Delaware Valley Old Time Power & Equipment Association will present its 12th annual "Days of the Past" Saturday and Sunday, September 16 and 17, from 9 to 4 at Washington Crossing State Park.

The club's 1921 Avery gas tractor will be on display for the first time. There will be working exhibits of tractors, gas engines and farm equipment, such as shingle-making, fodder-cutting, drag-sawing and feed-grinding. Fresh roasted peanuts roasted in an antique peanut roaster will be available.

Each day there will be a parade of antique cars, tractors and equipment. An antique garden tractor pull will be held on Sunday. The Sharron Dallas Reel to Real Country band will perform from noon to 4 on Sunday. And on Saturday evening, the Pennington Women's Club will hold a chicken barbecue. Tickets are $6 per person.

Parking for the show is $2 per car. For further information call (201) 735-5124 or 397-3293.

STUART TUNES UP FOR 26th YEAR: A major gift to enhance the music curriculum at Stuart Country Day School of the Sacred Heart is among the good things being celebrated as Stuart begins its 26th year. Board of Trustees Chairman Steven F. DeRochi hammers out a tune with a lower school music class, from left, Alison Mauney, Amanda Innis, Emma Palmer, Sara Lemmon, Natalie Stern and Sean Merriweather.

95 New Students Arrive At Stuart Country Day

Stuart Country Day School of the Sacred Heart opens for its 26th year on Thursday, September 7. Ninety-five new students will be among the 431 young people arriving for classes. Ranging from preschoolers to high schoolers, all the students are girls, with the exception of 29 boys in the classes for 3- and 4-year-olds.

The After-School Program for lower schoolers continues, and offers a before-school option, making it possible for parents to enroll lower school children for a day extending from 7 a.m. to 6 p.m.

A variety of new courses will enhance the curriculum in all grades. In addition to a new K-5 math program, lower schoolers will enjoy Kindermusik in preschool and kindergarten and, in older grades, will have an expanded instrumental music program, including Suzuki strings. Middle Schoolers will study in an enriched mathematics program, and 6th graders will have a new humanities course.

Upper Schoolers will continue the challenging curriculum which achieved a 30% acceptance rate at "most selective" colleges for the Class of 1989. As exchange student options this year, they will choose among visits to Spain and Austria and, possibly, Taiwan. Stuart Upper School students are also always welcome to spend a term or a year at another Sacred Heart school in the United States. There are 18 schools from Boston to San Francisco.

Two faculty in-service days will precede the students' return. One quarter of the faculty will report on summer study programs funded by the Stuart faculty enrichment endowment. Participants travelled to workshops from Bar Harbor to Maryland and to seminars from Chapel Hill to France.

English department head Betty Lies will return from a sabbatical year as a Klingenstein Fellow at Columbia University. Adlynn Lepore will return to the preschool staff, and Sister Lorette Piper, RSCJ, formerly a Stuart faculty member and most recently coordinator of the Martin House Learning Center in Trenton, will return to teach Upper School religion.

Two new members have joined the Stuart administrative team: Jeanne Mazzetti has moved from the admissions staff to become director of development, and Rose M. Silvestri has been appointed business manager.

New to the faculty and staff are Diane Cairoli, assistant librarian; Katja de Ruyter, upper school French; Margaret Ervin, Middle School English and history; Wilma Grayson, After-School assistant; Penelope McKean, director of student life for upper and middle schools; Elena Nickerson, Grade 5; Deanna Sass, peer leadership program; and James Wells, middle school music and chorus and upper school chorus.

The ongoing Stuart Anniversary Capital Campaign, which originated in the school's 25th Anniversary year of 1988-89, has received a major gift for curricular advancement: The Green Chair in Music. Funded by a $300,000 pledge from an anonymous donor, the Green Chair will support music appreciation and study for all grades at Stuart. Concerts, lectures, workshops for faculty, and various musicians in residence are planned.

The Green Chair is the first endowed chair in the 170-year history of Sacred Heart schools in the United States.

reducers like food, alcohol, gambling and self-sacrifice may be replaced by better ways of coping with life.

A second 12-session group, Men's Life Management, will be led by Sharon Gibbons. This group, which is limited to men who have been referred by County court, will help members identify compulsive behaviors such as addiction and violence. Discussions will focus on making the changes necessary to gain control of these behaviors. Meetings will be on Thursdays from 3 to 5 p.m. in the Princeton office, starting September 28.

Additional ongoing groups are also offered. Betsy Smith and Ann Allen are co-leading an early recovery group in the Princeton office on Mondays from 7 to 8:30 p.m. Relapse, AA/NA attendance and how to obtain and maintain sobriety can be difficult issues for newly recovering substance abusers. This group helps sustain efforts to build positive supports. Admission is open at any time after application.

In addition, an ongoing group for school or court-referred teenagers is being held in the Hightstown office, 169 South Main Street, on Tuesdays from 3:30 to 5 p.m. Sean Magill heads the group in exploring how to say "No" and mean it. Peer pressure and addictive behavior can lead to negative teen behavior. Ideas on how to deal with these issues can lead to more positive outcomes. Admission is open at any time for teens referred by schools or courts.

Family Service is a non-profit, community-supported United Way agency. Charges for admission to any of these groups is based on a sliding fee scale.

To apply for the groups or to request further information, call Family Service Princeton Area at 924-2098 in Princeton, or 448-0056 in Hightstown.

Acute Pain Treatment Offered at New Center

A new comprehensive pain management center at the University of Medicine and Dentistry of New Jersey (UMDNJ) specializes in treating post-operative pain using innovative methods including Continuous Epidural Anesthesia (CEA) and Patient Controlled Anesthesia (PCA).

The new center, located at the New Brunswick-based UMDNJ-Robert Wood Johnson Medical School, offers diagnosis and treatment for acute and chronic pain.

CEA, which has been used in obstetrics for painless labor for several years, is relatively new in relieving post-operative pain. Constant medication delivered at a slow, continuous rate gives patients pain relief that is significantly superior to the traditional injected or intravenous narcotics.

FRUITS OF FARMLAND PRESERVATION: Agriculture Secretary Arthur R. Brown Jr., left, and Gov. Thomas H. Kean highlight one of the benefits of farmland preservation — Jersey Fresh nectarines — during ceremonies in which the Governor signed legislation which could provide new funds for the State's Farmland Preservation Program. It approved by the voters in November, the $300 million Open Space Preservation Bond Act would provide $50 million to the now-depleted Farmland Preservation Program. Another $20 million would fund a Transfer of Development Rights bank, another effort to preserve farmland in the Garden State.

"We have found the patients become ambulatory more quickly without being sedated," said Dr. Alex Levin, director of the Comprehensive Pain Management Center. "Also, this method diminishes the number of cardiac and pulmonary complications which can occur after surgery."

PCA is another innovative procedure that allows the patient to control the amount of medication being delivered. A specially designed hand-held pump is connected to a catheter, enabling the patient to increase the medication dosage immediately. The control pump is programmed by a physician and has several safety features that prohibit the patient from overdosing.

"There are several advantages involved in PCA including better pain control, less drug dosage and the elimination of injections. PCA offers almost immediate pain relief," said Dr. Levin.

Aside from treating acute pain, the center also offers outpatient diagnosis and treatment of chronic pain. The center treats patients with back and neck pain, reflex sympathetic dystrophy, shingles, neuralgias and phantom pain.

For more information at the center at the UMDNJ-Robert Wood Johnson Medical School, call (201) 937-7827.

Woods at the Institute Site of Saturday Walk

Henry Horn of Princeton University's Biology Department will lead a walk in the Institute Woods on Saturday from 9 to noon. Participants will meet in the Mountain Lakes Nature Preserve/Community Park North parking lot and drive together to the trailhead to meet Dr. Horn.

Dr. Horn will discuss forest succession: how the various plant communities in the Woods have changed over the past 15 years. He is an enthusiastic environmental educator who is well acquainted with the Institute Woods. Participants will receive a pamphlet written by Dr. Horn describing a self-guided walk.

Participants are urged to dress for the weather, wear sturdy shoes (water-proof boots if the weather has been wet), and to bring plenty of drinking water and a snack. Binoculars are recommended, though not required.

The walk is free, but preregistration is required, and the walk will be limited to 20 participants. To preregister or for more information on any educational event sponsored by the Friends of Princeton Open Space, call 683-9022.

Ticket Books Available For Chili Cook-Off

Ticket booklets for the Greater Mercer County Championship Chili Cook-off are available at the Nassau Savings and Loan Association branch offices as well as at the Princeton Area Council of Community Services office, 55 Hightstown Road, Princeton Junction.

On Saturday, September 16, from 11 to 4 in Mercer County Park, West Windsor, area restaurants will compete for the "most flavorful and best chili" in the Greater Mercer

Area. The event is a benefit for the Council of Community Services. The public is invited to sample the chili and cast their ballots for the People's Choice Award. A panel of judges will also taste-test the entries and announce their choice for their favorite chili.

Entertainment at the event will include hayrides, a barber-shop quartet, hourly drawings, square dancing, magic shows and pony rides. Community service organizations from the 13 communities in the greater Princeton area will be on hand to give residents information about local programs available to serve them.

The ticket books cost $5 each and include 20 coupons redeemable for food and beverage at the Cook-off. In addition to chili, there will be hot dogs, cold drinks, popcorn and cotton candy. Admission to the event and parking are free. Each coupon book will also contain an official People's Choice ballot.

YMCA Fall Session: Activities for Everyone

The YMCA fall session will begin Monday, September 11, and continue through November 18. Boys, girls, men and women of all ages will find something to interest them among its activities.

In the YMCA's Preschool Mornings, children age 18 months to five years are divided into Toddler Time, Serendipity and Explorers and given opportunities to explore, create, gain self confidence, develop communications skills and personal responsibility.

Youth, age 5 and up, will enjoy Y-Winners in which everyone plays and everyone wins in soccer and flag football leagues. There is also the Y's "Flying Fish" Swim Team.

Adult Fun Nights offer four evenings of playing games. There is also an Outdoors Club which meets monthly to plan outings, as well as the popular adult leagues in football, volleyball, soccer and basketball.

For senior citizens, there is the Silver Foxes Club which meets weekly and goes on outings.

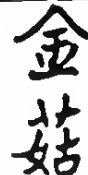

Registration for the fall session is under way and continues this Wednesday, Thursday, Friday and Saturday. For more information stop by the office or call 497-YMCA. Scholarships are available.

Large W. Windsor Trees Are Focus of Contest

The West Windsor Shade Tree Committee is trying to save a beautiful white oak at 730 Village Road West, West Windsor. The tree is estimated to be over 200 years old and may have been standing at the time of the Battle of Princeton.

The Committee is sponsoring a contest to find the largest tree in West Windsor Township. The person who locates the largest tree in the township will have a tree planted in his or her name in Chamberlin Park this fall. An eight-foot tree has been donated by an area nursery as a prize. Those locating the nine next largest trees will each be given a seedling tree at the annual Arbor Day Program next April.

The contest ends on October 1. West Windsor residents may enter the contest by sending the location of a tree, which may be anywhere in West Windsor, to Tree Contest, 1 Rumford Way, Princeton Junction, 08550. The Shade Tree Committee will then measure all the trees and announce the winners shortly after October 1.

Small Correction Offered To Princeton Guide Story

To the Editor of Town Topics: I'd like to make a correction and an addition to Barbara L. Johnson's otherwise excellent article on the tour guides Princeton Theological Seminary was founded in 1812, not 1811.

In addition to the "growing secularization of the curriculum at Princeton University," the great need for more ministers to serve a rapidly growing denomination caused the Seminary to be founded. (Rev.) ROBERT S. BEAMAN Westerlea Arms, Hightstown

Criticism Not Accurate Says Borough Engineer

To the Editor of Town Topics:

In the past week, several newspapers have carried news articles about the various road projects under way in Princeton Borough with emphasis on the closing of Harrison Street North. Some of these articles have cited comments by the merchants at the Princeton Shopping Center stating that they feel "a total lack of support from the Borough." I do not feel that this criticism is accurate and, as the department head in charge of these projects, I would like the opportunity to present the Borough's position.

Prior to the closing of Harrison Street North on August 22, I spoke to Ms. Hanington (Shopping Center Manager) regarding the contractors' schedule for the closing. At that time, I advised her that the contractor felt that the road closing would be limited to two to three weeks. I explained that we were taking the following steps to minimize the impact of the road closing:

1. We will institute a well-sited detour utilizing Snowden Lane and Franklin Avenue to bring traffic from the Nassau and Harrison Street intersection back to Harrison Street, south of the Princeton Shopping Center. This route provides for traffic to enter both Harrison Street and Nassau Street at intersections with traffic signals.

We specifically did not detour traffic to Linden Lane because it would require motorists to pass through another work area at Hamilton Avenue. Additionally, southbound traffic at Linden Lane and Nassau Street would have difficulty exiting onto Nassau Street. The detour route does not require southbound traffic on Nassau Street to travel any additional distance. Traffic bound north on Nassau Street or Harrison Street must follow a route that is approximately three quarters of a mile longer. At an average speed of 25 mph, this would take about two minutes additional travel time.

2. We changed the normal sequence of the work to have the sidewalk installed after the road has been reopened to traffic.

3. The Borough projects have been scheduled to provide for as much of the work as possible to be completed before Labor Day with anticipated completion dates prior to the end of September. This was a direct response to earlier merchant requests to have no work performed during the holiday shopping season. Harrison Street, therefore, will be completely reconstructed within the Borough when the Harrison Street bridge reopens on or about November 2.

Suggestions Implemented. Mayor Sigmund asked me to attend a meeting with the representatives of the Princeton Shopping Center on August 29 because she was unable to attend. During that meeting, I attempted to explain the work in progress, and to listen to suggestions from the group. Several suggestions which we are currently implementing are as follows:

1. We will allow the Shopping Center to post directional signs along Linden Lane once the work on Hamilton Avenue will not impede traffic. We anticipate being able to do this during the week of September 5.

2. The contractor is working an additional two hours per day in an attempt to reduce the duration of the closing. To require the contractor to accelerate the work further would cost additional money which is not available without a new bond ordinance. Since the bonding procedure takes a minimum of 30 days, the project would be delayed, as well as cost more.

3. If necessary, we will request a police officer for traffic control at the intersection of Nassau Street and Linden Lane once that route is available for unimpeded traffic.

Suggestions that were rejected as impractical are:

1. Maintaining one lane of traffic through the project site. We feel that the work area is too narrow to provide safe conditions for motorists and workers. The Township is fortunate to have a width of four lanes in front of the Shopping Center, thereby providing sufficient room to work on half the roadway at a time. While I'm sure that the Township hopes to minimize traffic impacts during their project, I question their ability to avoid all road closings while working at the northern end of their project.

2. The Borough has utilized night work as a means to combat traffic impacts during construction on several projects. We have been performing night work on Washington Road recently, while requiring utility companies to work at night on Witherspoon Street, Bayard Lane, and Nassau Street in the recent past. Unfortunately, the noise generated by nighttime construction activities is often unbearable for residents trying to sleep near the worksite.

Within the past month, the Mayor and Council were petitioned by residents adjacent to Route 206 to have the gas company work during the day. Work had originally been performed at night to reduce the impact on traffic. We are therefore constantly trying to weigh the impacts on all parties and arrive at the least objectionable method of performing the work. Whatever decision is made, we offend someone.

The Borough of Princeton has embarked on an ambitious road repair program out of necessity. The roughly 3 1/4 miles of road repairs in progress this year represent 16% of the streets under municipal jurisdiction. They represent a much larger percentage of the arteries available for traffic across the Borough, hence the larger impact on the motorist. I think that there would be few people who could legitimately argue against the need for repair of Harrison Street, Wiggins Street, or Washington Road. These roads were in poor condition because it is always easy to push off the difficult project until "next year."

I find it frustrating to see so many people working very hard for the betterment of the community and yet not being acknowledged for their efforts. The Borough has a dedicated and talented staff that has been supplemented by consultants. The utility companies, including Elizabethtown Water Company, Public Service Electric & Gas, New Jersey Bell, and the Princeton Sewer Operating Committee, have cooperated with the Borough fully to bring these jobs to a successful conclusion.

When the final pavement is applied to these streets, they should provide years of service with a minimum of maintenance. Hopefully, after some of the dust has cleared, people will begin to realize that it was worth the temporary inconvenience.

CARL E. PETERS
Borough Engineer

Thanks to Fire Fighters From Audio-Video Center

To the Editor of Town Topics: We, in Princeton, are indeed fortunate to have the most dedicated volunteer fire department on call at all hours, day and night.

We would like to thank all those firefighters who courageously fought fire, smoke and intense heat that totally consumed our business at 3 a.m. on August 20 at 262 Alexander Street.

Although it was a disastrous fire, we are thankful that no one was seriously injured. We hope that the three firefighters who required medical treatment have fully recovered from their injuries.

To our many customers, we apologize for this unfortunate situation.

Dates Are Announced For Festival of Trees

Preparations for the third annual Festival of Trees benefit for the Princeton Summer Camp are well under way. Dickie Ann Boal-Johnson is chairman of the 1989 event.

The preview party to open the festival will be held Wednesday, December 6. A silent auction and ornament boutique will enable visitors to purchase some of the special holiday decor. Public viewing of the 50 trees and wreaths on display will be December 7 through 10 from noon until 4 in Alexander Hall on the Princeton campus.

Funds raised by the Festival of Trees provide camperships to young people from Princeton, Trenton and surrounding areas. Held at the Princeton Education center at Blairstown, the Summer Camp offers campers a program that gives them a vacation from their environment and provides challenge and adventure.

The Sunrise program is for children ages 10 to 13. The Horizon program, for older teens, provides campers with a year-round element of encouragement and support.

For information call the office of the Princeton Summer Camp at 452-3340.

150 Course Offerings For Windsor Residents

West Windsor-Plainsboro Community Education's Fall session, which begins September 25, features more than 150 continuing education courses, programs and trips. Classes for adults emphasize career skill development, enrichment courses to pursue hobbies and special talents, exploration of the arts, strengthening of communication skills, and exercise opportunities for everyone's level of physical fitness.

Two special events highlight the opening of the fall session. The annual "Welcome to Newcomers" on Tuesday offers new and old residents alike the opportunity to meet the West Windsor mayor and board of education president and to chat with representatives of community agencies and services. Refreshments will be served, and there is no charge for the event, which will be held from 7 to 10 p.m. in the West Windsor-Plainsboro High School, Clarksville Road, Princeton Junction. On Friday, September 22nd, the annual Community Square Dance will be held at Maurice Hawk School from 8 to 10 p.m. No experience is needed.

Computer courses for the fall include Appleworks and Other Software Exploration, Introduction to Personal Business Computers; Lotus 1-2-3 Beginner and Lotus 1-2-3 Intermediate; Microsoft WORKS; Pc or Not PC; and WordPerfect.

Residents can learn to be an effective listener, an informed auto insurance consumer, or a good bridge player. Local history buffs will find the series "New Jersey and You: History and Lore" of interest. Several new craft classes have been added to the curriculum, including several wreath design classes, Painted Country Sampler Board, a mini-craft series, in addition to the continuing favorites — Gingerbread House Construction, Knitting, Potbellied Baskets, Stained Glass Crafting and Woodworking.

Learn to Cook. Cooking classes include Cajun Cooking, More Italian Cooking, Pasta Making, Bread Making, Pies, Indian Cooking, Creative Hors d'Oeuvre, Cake Decorating, and Microwave Cooking.

Three new programs in the arts are being introduced in the fall session. The lecture series, "America's Contribution to the Arts," features Robert Lancheester, associate artistic director of McCarter Theatre, speaking about the American theater; Geri DePaoli, Art Historian, speaking about the visual arts; and Gerald F. X. Geier II, principal in the Hillier Group, speaking about architecture in America. The series will continue in the spring.

The West Windsor-Plainsboro Community Chorus will make its debut in the fall, and will give participants the opportunity to experience singing in a vocal ensemble and making music with other people. Instructor Cynthia Westbrook is a music teacher at the WW-P Middle School and singer with the I Cantori di New York.

For children, a Suzuki violin and cello instruction program will start in late September. Beginning students in grades K-3 and continuing students through grade 5 will have a private and a group lesson each week with Barbara Greenberg, registered teacher with the Suzuki Association of the Americas. Other classes in the arts include Actor's Workshop, Ceramics, Looking at Art, Oil Painting, Pastel Painting, photography, Watercolor Painting, and Writing That Novel.

Manage Your Finances. Financial management courses will help participants prepare for retirement, manage their investments, prepare their income taxes, invest for income and growth, develop a long-term health care plan, and save on taxes through real estate investing. There is also an investing course geared to special needs of women.

Home and garden courses focus on Home Buying and Selling, Decorating by Design, Interior Motives, Hydroponics, Perennials, Lawns, Landscaping, and Ikebana. A variety of Dance instruction is offered, including country western, ballroom I and II, round dancing, square dancing, and tap. Exercise classes are available for every level of physical fitness, from Exercise in the Slow Lane and Yoga to Jazzercise and High Energy Workout.

English as a Second Language classes begin on Tuesday, September 26. All new students must call the community education office, 452-2185, to make an appointment with the instructor.

Trips for the fall include a weekend in Connecticut on Oc-

Mail-in registration is under way and will continue until a class or program begins, but early registration will assure participants a place in the class of their choice. Walk-in registration will be held Wednesday and Thursday, September 13 and 14 from 7:30 to 9 at West Windsor-Plainsboro High School.

Those who need a brochure or have a question, may call the community education office, 452-2185.

Healing Circle Is Set On Monday Evenings

The "Healing Circle," led by Jeanie Semon and David Wilker, will be held at 8 p.m. on Monday, September 11 and 25 at the First Reformed Church on Route 518 in Rocky Hill. This event is sponsored by the Holistic Health Association.

The healing power of love will be evoked through guided meditation and the laying-on of hands. All are welcome.

Ms. Semon and Mr. Wilker have studied with Elizabeth Stratton in New York City. Ms. Semon is a healer living in Bucks County and Mr. Wilker is from Monmouth Junction.

For further information, call the HHAPA office at 924-8580.

Fossil Hunting Trip Planned by Area Group

The Stony Brook-Millstone Watershed Association will go on a fossil hunting expedition Saturday, September 16, at Big Brook in Monmouth County, the best fossil site on the coastal plain of New Jersey.

The ocean waters which once covered New Jersey were filled with many different creatures. Participants in this program will search for evidence of these creatures. Fossils of shark's teeth, squid and other ocean life can be found.

The program, for adults and children age 8 or older will begin at the Association's Headquarters with an introduction to fossils followed by a van trip to Big Brook. The fee is $20 for members and $30 for nonmembers, and includes transportation and all the fossils one can find. No one will go home empty-handed.

Participants will meet at 10 at the Buttinger Center located on Titus Mill Road in Hopewell Township and will return by 4 p.m.

Spaces are limited and preregistration is required. To register or for more information, call 737-7592.

Night Hike Is Planned By Mtn. Lakes Naturalist

The Friends of Princeton Open Space will sponsor a Night Hike in Mountain Lakes Nature Preserve on Saturday, September 16, from 8 to 9:30 p.m.

As daylight fades, a new set of creatures emerge to feed, forage and sing through the darkness. On the walk along the shores of Mountain Lake, the group may encounter some of these creatures as they begin their nocturnal activities. The group will meet in the Community Park North parking lot. Participants are urged to dress for the weather, wear sturdy walking shoes (water-proof boots if the weather has been wet), and bring flashlights.

The walk is free, but preregistration is required, and the night hike is limited to 15 participants. To preregister or for information on other educational activities sponsored by the Friends of Princeton Open Space at Mountain Lakes Nature Preserve, call 683-9022.

New Fall Classes Offered By Familyborn Center

Familyborn, The Mildred Morgan Center for Birth and Women's Health, will offer a free class on preconception, Wednesday, September 13, at 7 p.m. at the YWCA, Paul Robeson Place. All couples considering a pregnancy now or in the future are invited.

Information will be presented for both partners on preconceptional health, fertility awareness, birthing options, and parenting. Recent studies indicate that the period of greatest vulnerability for the developing fetus lies between days 17 and 56 after conception. Most women do not realize they are pregnant this early, which emphasizes the importance of preconceptional health.

A class on newborn care will be offered on a monthly basis at the Familyborn offices, 21 Wiggins Street, starting Thursday, September 14. Taught by Pam Rosser, Familyborn's Director of Nursing, the program will include normal newborn behavior, breastfeeding, home safety, circumcision, and infant CPR.

This seminar is designed for mothers and fathers and those involved in early child care.

Familyborn is a birth center, staffed by certified nurse midwives, nurses, birth assistants, and physicians offering prenatal and birthing care both in and out of the hospital, well-woman health care, and extensive educational programs. Familyborn is covered by most insurance companies and is affiliated with RCHP and US Healthcare.

Homefriends Volunteers Set Training Session

Making a difference in the life of a homebound elderly person is the essence of the Homefriends program, sponsored by the Princeton Senior Resource Center. Volunteers have the opportunity to befriend an older adult who is looking for companionship, and their weekly visit offers an important source of support.

Volunteers are trained by the staff before being introduced to a homebound individual especially selected for compatibility. The next training session is scheduled for Tuesday from 1:30 to 4 p.m.

The program's flexibility makes it possible for almost anyone to become a volunteer. Of the 60 volunteers currently with the program, many are employed full- or part-time. Others are retired, and several are mothers who visit with their young children. There is an important role for male volunteers and couples in the program.

On September 19, at 7:30 p.m., Dr. Judith Aronheim will speak to Homefriends volunteers on bioethical issues involved with living wills and power of attorney. Dr. Aronheim is physician in residence for the Society for the Right to Die and an attending physician at the Bellevue Hospital geriatric clinic in New York City.

Programs such as this are part of the ongoing education and support offered to volunteers.

For further information about the program and training, call Barbara Purnell at 924-7108.

Birdwalk Is Planned In Mtn. Lakes Preserve

Carol Ann McCormick, the Friends of Princeton Open Space naturalist at Mountain Lakes Nature Preserve, will lead an early morning birdwalk, Saturday from 8 to 9 a.m.

The group will meet in the Community Park North parking lot on the corner of Mountain Avenue and Route 206, then walk the woodland trails of Community Park North and Mountain Lakes Nature Preserve for approximately one hour. Novice birdwatchers as well as experienced ones are welcome. Dress for the weather, wear sturdy shoes (rubber hoots if the weather has been wet), and bring binoculars.

There is no fee for the bird walk. For more information, call 683-9022.

Stop-Smoking Program Offered at Carrier

Beginning Tuesday evening, Carrier Foundation, Belle Mead, will offer a 10-session, stop-smoking program "Smokeless" classes will be held in Kindred Lodge Building, located on Carrier grounds, and will continue September 18, 19, 20, 21 and 22. Four maintenance sessions will also be included. All sessions will be held from 7 to 8 p.m.

The program combines stress management, new eating behaviors, assertiveness training, and positive and negative reinforcement.

The first session, on September 12, is free of charge. The complete program is offered at a fee. For more information, or to register, call Eleanor Phelps, (201) 874-4000, extension 4512.

Williamsburg Films At Rocky Hill Library

The Mary Jacobs Library in Rocky Hill will present two films on Williamsburg on Monday at 7 p.m.

Hommerman in Williamsburg portrays the community blacksmith who manufactured and repaired the iron objects needed for the farm and household.

Eighteenth Century Life in Williamsburg focuses on the activities of the cabinet-maker and his family.

This program is free and open to the public.

The library has also announced that it will be closed Thursday morning, September 14, until noon. Staff members will attend a meeting of the Somerset Library system.

For further information, call 924-7073.

Eye Screening Scheduled At Medical Center Here

Princeton Medical Center will participate in a statewide eye health screening program on Tuesday, September 26, from 6 to 8 p.m. in the clinic on the first floor in Lambert House. The screening is sponsored by the Medical Society of New Jersey, acting through its Special Committee on Conservation of Vision.

The screening procedures are open to all persons over the age of 35 who are not already receiving ophthalmological care. Led by Dr. Wayne Grabowski, the screening will be performed by ophthalmologists on the staff of the Medical Center. In addition to vision and intraocular pressure testing, an examination of the external and internal eye will be performed.

Refractions for eye glasses and contact lens fittings will not be included. The purpose of the screening is to detect evidence of any eye disease — or any systemic disease reflected in the eyes — which should have treatment or follow-up by a physician.

It should be emphasized that vision screening of this type is not a substitute for a regular complete eye examination by an ophthalmologist.

Two major causes of blindness are glaucoma and cataracts. Blindness from both conditions can usually be prevented. Today, one of every eight persons is a victim of glaucoma, the building up of fluid pressure in the eyeball. If detected in the early stages, it can be controlled to prevent blindness.

Cataract is the clouding of the lens within the eyeball and blocks the passage of light rays. Surgery is the only known possible cure and, although the operation is delicate, the surgery has been perfected to a point where it is safe and effective.

For further information, call 734-4553.

Registration Is Planned For Parenting Classes

The Family Resource Infant Center will hold walk-in registration on Tuesday, September 19, from 9:30 to 12:30 for more than 40 parenting groups and parent-child activity classes. The center is located in the United Methodist Church, Nassau and Vandeventer. Mail-in registration is currently under way.

Playgroup experiences for children are held while mothers discuss topics of concern. They are led by a professional facilitator. Topics to be covered include toilet teaching, sleep, building self-esteem, nutrition, and self-discipline.

A number of parent-child activities are also planned, in-

Corner House Plans A Group for Fathers

A discussion group for fathers and stepfathers of adolescent boys ages 12 to 17 is being offered by Corner House, Witherspoon Street. The group will meet on five consecutive Monday nights, beginning September 25, from 7:30 to 9. Fee for the five sessions is $25. Facilitator is Roger Dillow of the Corner House staff.

The purpose of the group is to help participants recognize commonalities among men in their parenting roles, to acknowledge differences among men in these roles, to discuss and learn more about parenting and family issues peculiar to adolescence, and to discuss and learn more about issues peculiar to men and male adolescents.

Interested fathers and stepfathers may call Corner House at 924-8018 for information and registration.

New Session Scheduled For Outpatient Program

The Outpatient Education and Treatment Program offered by the Mercer Council on Alcoholism and Drug Addiction will begin its next closed group session on Saturday morning, at the Lawrence branch of the Mercer County Library, located on Darrah Lane at Route 1.

The program will consist of 15 two-hour group sessions on alcoholism, alcohol/drug abuse and related problems. A certified alcoholism counselor will moderate the group, which is designed for those concerned about their own alcohol/drug use, that of a family member or friend, those arrested for driving under the influence of alcohol or drugs, and those who want to learn more about alcoholism/addiction.

The program is approved by the New Jersey Division of Motor Vehicles, the Bureau of Countermeasures, and the New Jersey Department of Health, Division of Alcoholism. The program will accept referrals from judges, employers, alcoholism/drug abuse counselors, health and human service professionals and family members. Evaluations and progress reports will be provided to the referring agencies upon request.

Participation in this program is covered by federal confidentiality laws. All discussion in the group and individual sessions will be held in strictest confidence.

A modest, income-based fee is due upon registration. Some health insurance companies will cover the cost. To register, call MCADA at 396-5874.

ACOA Group Programs Set by Gabrielsen Group

The Gabrielsen Group, Pennington, alcohol and drug problem specialists, has announced its fall and winter Adult Children of Alcoholics (ACOA) group program schedule. This series will be accompanied by weekend workshops, the first to be held in November.

Janet Waronker, an ACOA specialist is the senior facilitator. She is also an experienced group and workshop leader on anger management, self esteem interpersonal communication, and movement awareness.

The first weekend workshop "Healing the Inner Child," will be held the weekend of November 14 and 15 from 10 to 4 each day. This workshop will be of interest to men and women who are in the process of recovery with ACOA issues and want to discover new and deeper ways of relating to self and others.

In late September, on Wednesday evenings, an ACOA therapy group will begin. This group welcomes individuals who have been involved in ACOA recovery for well over a year. A commitment to group attendance will be required, as will a meeting with Ms. Waronker for one initial session before the group is formed. This group will focus on breaking the old taboo for ACOA's: "Don't talk, don't trust, don't feel." This group meets weekly for 1½ hours. The fee is $40 for each session.

In mid-October, on Monday evenings, Ms. Waronker will begin her fourth twelve-week series on "Healing the Inner Child." This series offers participants the opportunity to nurture and enhance the relationship they have with their natural self and inner child. This group also meets for 1½ hours and is $40 per session.

In addition, The Gabrielsen Group will offer an eight session ACOA education group for people who wish to begin to explore the meaning of the ACOA/dysfunctional impact on individuals, relationships, and families. This strictly educational format provides the information and foundation needed to understand dysfunctional and unhealthy patterns and behavior.

To register, or to sign up for the groups or workshops, contact The Gabrielsen Group, 65 South Main Street, Pennington, 08534, or call 737-8070.

Weight Loss Program Planned for Teenagers

Teen Weight-No-More, a program for teenagers with problem weight, will begin with free introductory meetings on Tuesday, September 26, and Tuesday, October 3, at 7 p.m. at Princeton Medical Center in Lambert House, Classroom 3.

The 18-week program is designed for those between 10 and 18 years old who would like to lose weight. The Teen Weight-No-More program combines behavior modification with an ongoing support program, as well as instruction for parents.

Teens in this program will lose their desired amounts by sticking to a safe, sensible diet.

For more information about Teen Weight-No-More and Optifast programs, call 734-4647.

Princeton Recreation Plans Cape May Trip

The Princeton Recreation Department's Senior Trip Club will visit Cape May on Tuesday and Wednesday, October 10 and 11. This special trip offers one-night accommodation at the Atlas Motor Inn in Cape May; three meals, including lunch at Wheaton Village, dinner in the Crystal Room, and breakfast in the hotel.

Also included is admission to Wheaton Village — a step back in time to the 1880's. The Wheaton Museum of American Glass offers glass blowing demonstrations at the Glass Factory.

Another highlight of the trip is the Emlen Physick House, the 18-room mansion built for Dr. Emlen Physick Jr., which is now an authentically restored house-museum in Cape May.

The trip is $117 for club members, $122 for nonmembers —

BUSINESS

Annual Chamber Day Planned for September 7

The Princeton Area Chamber of Commerce will celebrate its eighth Chamber Day on Thursday at Scanticon-Princeton.

Highlights of the day will include a breakfast for CEOs of member companies with more than 50 employees, a business show, a general membership luncheon, a welcoming of new members, and a business card reception.

The breakfast meeting will feature J. Robert Hillier, chairman of the board and chief executive officer of The Hillier Group, the nation's fourth largest architectural firm. Mr. Hillier's topic will be "Who Is Really Designing Our Environment?"

The business show, which will open with a ribbon-cutting ceremony at 11, will be the showcase for 48 companies exhibiting products and services.

The 11:30 luncheon will be informal, and later in the afternoon, new members will learn about chamber membership while enjoying dessert and coffee. The board of directors and committee chairmen will be present to answer questions and discuss Chamber programs.

At 5, the business card reception will bring members and other area business people together. Door prizes will be awarded at the day's end.

No reservations are needed for the business show, which is free, as is the welcoming of new members. The luncheon is $15 for members and $25 for nonmembers. For information or reservations, call the Chamber at 520-1776.

Hillier Group Is Named To Design ETS Offices

The Hillier Group has been selected to design three new office buildings at Carnegie Center for The Landis Group and Educational Testing Service, who will occupy the buildings upon completion.

The buildings are designated by Carnegie Center as part of its 500 series — numbers 504, 506 and 508 — and will be three and four stories tall. The project also includes parking facilities for 1,135 cars in two parking decks and a grade-level parking area adjacent to the buildings. Hillier managing principal for the project is Steve DeRochi with Robert Kady as project manager. Construction on buildings 504 and 506 is scheduled for completion in summer, 1991, with 508 to be completed approximately one year later.

With a total of 400,000 square feet, the buildings will house approximately 1,500 ETS employees primarily in general office space. Building 506 will feature computer and dining areas as well. All areas will be accessed through a central lobby at the main entrance to each of the buildings.

The ETS building cluster will be organized around a central courtyard and greenway that will serve as a link to the remainder of Carnegie Center. Exterior materials will be red/brown brick and bronze glass similar to Carnegie Center's Hyatt Regency Hotel.

Personnel Notes

Mark Dentini

A United States patent has been issued to Mark Dentini, senior technical associate, and Joe Fulton, member of the technical staff, at AT&T's Bell Laboratories Engineering Research Center near Princeton. This is the first patent to be issued for both men. The invention relates to an assembly for conducting heat away from a heat-producing device.

Most recently, Mr. Green managed his own real estate counseling practice, which serves corporate, institutional and private clients. He also was director of Princeton University's Real Estate Department from 1970 to 1978. As such, he was responsible for planning the 1800-acre, University-sponsored Princeton Forrestal Center.

Howard Feilich
University. Dr. Moss completed her psychiatric residency training at Bellevue Psychiatric Hospital - New York University and Manhattan Psychiatric Center, both of New York City. She earned a fellowship in child and adolescent psychiatry from the University of Tennessee in Memphis.

David E. Grunza
Dr. Howard Feilich has been awarded an ACG Process Research and Engineering Innovation Award at FMC Corporation for discovering a better solvent for bifenthrin alcohol production.
Also at FMC, David E. Grunza, a co-op student from Drexel University, was awarded an ACG Process Research and Engineering Award for programming the engineering work station in the pilot control room for use as an additional operator window.

Several new appointments were announced by DKM Properties, Lawrenceville.
Charles Cramer was named construction manager/project manager; Michael Briehler was promoted to assistant project manager; Mary T. Dooney joined DKM as director of New Brunswick operations; Margot Velissaropoulos was named director of leasing; and Grace Alexander was promoted to director of marketing and corporate communications.

Amper, Politziner & Mattia, Certified Public Accountants, Princeton, has added three persons to its accounting and auditing department.
They are, Karen Elias, Kathleen Quigley, and John Worek.

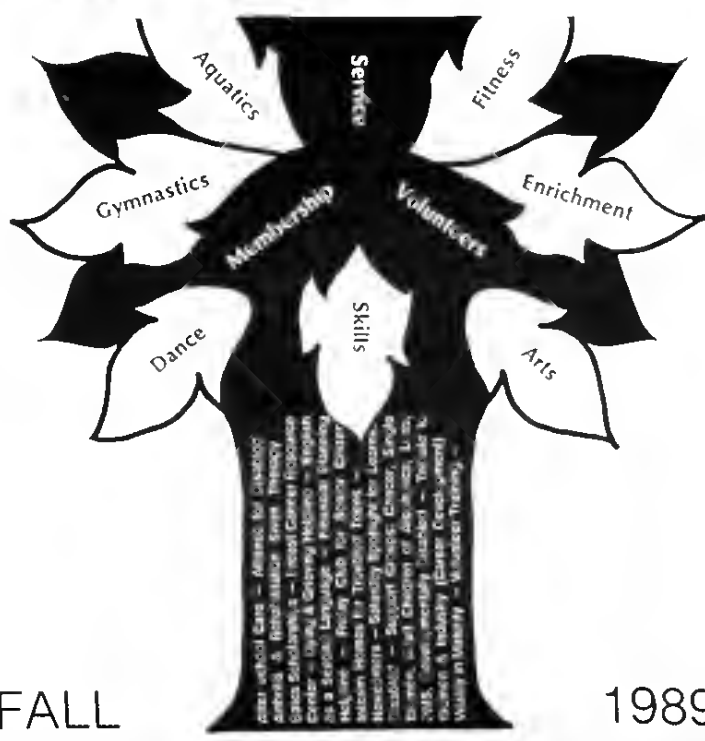

John Guarniere has been named to lead a new executive search/human resource division formed by Rosenberg, Druker & Company, Certified Public Accountants, Chambers Street.
Mr. Guarniere has nearly two decades of diversified executive search consulting experience in addition to corporate human resource management.

Recycling in Mercer County is here.

All it takes is 3 simple steps.

Mercer County made recycling easy.

Now recycling is as easy as taking out the garbage. Get your free recycling can from your municipality and get started right away.
The first pickup date will be here soon.

There's no sorting.

The Mercer County mandatory recycling program makes recycling simple. Now green brown and clear glass jars and bottles, and aluminum, tin and bimetal food and beverage containers may all be mixed together in one recycling can. You don't have to sort them or remove labels. Just rinse them. Newspapers and glossy newspaper inserts can be bagged in paper grocery bags (not plastic) or tied with string.

Now there's curbside pickup.

Recyclables will be picked up once every other week. On recycling days all you have to do is put out recyclables just like you put out your garbage. Pickup dates for Mercer County municipalities will be published shortly.

Give recycling all you've got.

- Newspapers
- Glossy newspaper inserts
- Glass jars and bottles
- Glass soda bottles*
- Soda cans
- Soup cans
- Vegetable cans
- Fruit cans
- Juice cans
- Pet-food cans

*Plastic soda bottles will be accepted for recycling by the end of 1989.

Not recyclable:

- Aluminum foil
- Aluminum pie plates
- Aluminum doors
- Aluminum siding
- Coat hangers
- Beaten to dry cleaners)
- Drinking glasses
- Pyrex glass
- Window glass
- Ornamental glass
- Dishes
- Magazines
- Telephone books
- Detergent bottles
- Bleach bottles
- Motor-oil bottles

It's the law.

On April 20, 1987, Governor Thomas H.
Kean signed into law the Mandatory Source

Separation and Recycling Act which requires each municipality to recycle at least 25% of its waste.

Mercer County has developed a recycling program that makes it very easy to comply with this law. Starting this fall, residents and businesses using municipal garbage services will be required to recycle.

Voluntary recycling is encouraged for all apartment and condominium residents until plans are developed for them. Many recycling drop-off centers will remain open.

Get ready. Get set. Recycle.

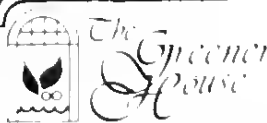

Start saving recyclable materials now. The Mercer County recycling program is here.
So take it step by step. You'll be recycling in no time.

MORVEN PORTICO: The detailed architectural examination of Morven being conducted by the National Park Service will help establish dates for additions and alterations, such as this front porch. Little of the original structure remains in what we see today except parts of the west wing and the north wall of the east wing.

Morven

New Jersey State Museum, assumed administrative responsibility. Because the stately mansion is New Jersey's most significant historic house, State Department and Museum officials decided it would be essential to know more about the house and grounds before deciding how the house could best be used to interpret New Jersey cultural and political history. After consulting experts associated with research/restoration projects such as Mt. Vernon, Monticello, Williamsburg and Montpelier, the home of James Madison, they contracted for a series of research activities which were begun in 1987 and are producing new information about Morven's past.

These activities include a search of all documents pertaining to Morven, or in which the house is mentioned. This study has been undertaken by Constance M. Greiff, the historian who heads Heritage Studies, an historical consulting firm, and who was the author of the 1976 revision of A House Called Morven by Alfred Hoyt Bill.

Mrs. Greiff's research in turn guides and informs the architectural and archaeological investigations, the two other research activities being conducted at Morven. The architectural survey is responsible for the rectangular holes in the plaster walls of several rooms inside Morven, the removal of the solarium floor, and the baring of the foundation in several spots. The garden archeology has required the digging of trenches in various places in the north and south lawns that are covered up with black plastic when not in active use.

Indoors, Morven is bare, except for carpeting and drapery, some portraits of the Stocktons, and in one room in the east wing a nicely arranged exhibit describing the research activities. The rectangular cut-outs in the plaster walls are not unduly noticeable, but outdoors, the piles of earth, sand and brick give the place an unkempt look.

Asked by newspaper reporters to comment on the disheveled state of the house and grounds, three former governors who lived there said they would like to see the house returned to use as the governor's mansion. Mrs. Brendan Byrne questioned the need for the amount of research being undertaken, and William Cahill said he was "shocked" by what he saw on a recent visit to the house. Only Gov. Richard

ARCHAEOLOGICAL FIND: A researcher checks the depth of terraced steps uncovered behind Morven. The terracing can be traced to the original owners, Richard ("The Signer") Stockton and his wife Annis, whose gardens were famous throughout the colonies.

Hughes, who lived there from 1962 to 1970, has since modified his original statement to support the ongoing investigations after being sent information on what the research is all about.

Alvin J. Felzenberg, assistant secretary of state, and a prime mover of the research-leading-to-restoration project, points out that not only is Morven on the National Register of Historic Places, but it was also designated a National Historic Landmark, which Mr. Felzenberg says is more significant than the Registry.

"It means that Morven must be treated with respect and care," he says.

He also points out that the National Historic Preservation Act of 1966 mandates that archaeological research be conducted to ensure that historic evidence is not lost or destroyed. No physical changes may be made to the house prior to the completion of this research.

"I don't think archaeology is very well understood," Mr. Felzenberg continues. In Cam-tract until the summer. Work began in mid-September.

Also, the installation of new water mains under Library Place, Boudinot Street, and Morven Place was unanticipated at the start of the job.

While each road reconstruction project is in its design phase, all utility companies are asked to schedule any facilities in need of repair before the Borough begins its work, explained Mr. Peters. This is to avoid having to open a recently reconstructed road. During this phase, the Borough had not heard from Elizabethtown and was not aware of the need to install new mains.

These three streets had suffered pressure problems during the summer of 1988 because their water pipes were both inadequate and in poor condition.

"Elizabethtown responded to the pressure problems with installation of larger mains," said Mr. Peters. Work on these three streets had to halt until the pipes were installed.

Too Much Rain. The heavy rains, too, wreaked havoc with the schedule. "We had a full year's rain between April and July," said Mr. Peters. "We can't do any paving in the rain."

"I feel very strongly that not only has the Borough staff worked very hard, with the support of Mayor and Council," said Mr. Peters, "but we have also gotten a great deal of cooperation from the utility companies, including PSE&G, New Jersey Bell, Elizabethtown, and the Princeton Sewer Operating Committee."

The reconstruction of Wiggins/Hamilton, from Witherspoon to Harrison, is proceeding on schedule, and should be completed by the end of the month, "even with the rain and the unanticipated additional storm sewer work," said Mr. Peters.

Timing of the $900,000, three-quarter-mile-long road reconstruction project had to be coordinated with underground work also being done by Elizabethtown, Bell Telephone,

BOROUGH ENGINEER CARL PETERS is the person responsible for moving the Borough's massive road reconstruction plan forward.

PSE&G, and the Sewer Operating Committee. "We have had to work hand in hand with representatives of the utilities," said Mr. Peters, "and they have been very cooperative."

Prospect Avenue to Close. Reconstruction of Prospect Avenue, from Washington Road to Harrison Street, was expected to begin this week. One section at a time will be closed to traffic, with Harrison Street to Princeton Avenue the first of these. Anticipated completion date is mid-November.

The balance of the Borough's road reconstruction project consists of 31 streets scheduled through 1993 (see box this page). This plan is expected to be focused on at Borough Council's Tuesday meeting, which will begin at 8 p.m. at Borough Hall.

There has already been some discussion between Central Business District merchants and Public Works Commissioner and Councilwoman Jane Terpstra about postponing road work scheduled next year in the CBD, possibly replacing it with projects scheduled further along on the timetable.

bridge, Mass., for instance, people did not appreciate Harvard Yard being torn up until the research turned up artifacts which helped date nearby structures to 1636. Morven's garden archaeology, which is in its third and final summer, has received grants from the Geraldine R. Dodge Foundation, the National Trust, Bunbury Company and Merrill Lynch, in addition to State funds.

The District IV Garden Clubs of America of Mendham and Princeton have pledged to restore the garden to its 18th-century splendor. "When the archaeology gives them the map, they will take over," Mr. Felzenberg says.

According to a preliminary report entitled "Archaeologically Defining the Earlier Garden Landscapes at Morven," features that have been uncovered include a set of terrace steps, a terrace fall line, six garden walks, a brick carriageway, a cobblestone road, a cobblestone forecourt, half a dozen tree holes, several planting beds and possibly a pond. Anne Yentsch of Historic Annapolis has directed the garden archeology, which has also included sophisticated analysis of plant and pollen remains as well as tree-coring.

The architectural survey has involved analysis of paint chips and mortar, nail and saw marks, as well structural and documentary evidence. This survey has been conducted by the agencies of the National Park Service, which conducted similar survey of Hyde Park, Franklin D. Roosevelt's home. "They don't usually take on a site they don't own," Mr. Felzenberg said.

Once the research is completed, the Department of State and the State Museum will have to decide how the house will be restored. "The floors will be put back, the walls will be painted, once we know what colors to use," he said. Mr. Felzenberg was philosophical about the possibility that the house might become an executive mansion again rather than a museum.

"If a future administration should decide that there should be a change, the State will have learned a great deal more about the house, and the gardens will be restored," he said.

Historical Society Trip Planned to Pennsylvania

The Historical Society is sponsoring a trip to a number of Pennsylvania's most impressive country sites on September 24.

Included are The Highlands

(1796), a late Georgian mansion, which functioned as a country house and model farm; Hope Lodge (c. 1748), a continuing history museum, featuring period furnishings, ceramics, and paintings from the 18th through the 20th centuries; and the Peter Wentz Farmstead, a 1758 Georgian mansion and working farm, which served as George Washington's headquarters before the Battle of Germantown.

The tour costs $50 per person for members ($55 for nonmembers) and includes transportation, admission, coffee and pastries, box lunch, afternoon refreshments, and an $8 tax-deductible contribution to the Historical Society.

Reservations are limited to 48 persons. The tour will leave from the Princeton Shopping Center (the Acme side) at 8 a.m. and return at 5 p.m.

News of the THEATRES

New Theater Season For Franklin Villagers

The Franklin Villagers Barn Theatre has announced its 1989/90 season. The 29-year-old theater group in Somerset is beginning the first full season in its newly renovated theater. The season will open with Isn't It Romantic, a comedy by Wendy Wasserstein about two young women in New York attempting to balance personal relationships with career, family and tradition. It will run on weekends from October 6 to 29.

La Cage aux Folles, the long-running Broadway musical by Jerry Herman and Harvey Fierstein, will run weekends from November 17 through December 31 (excluding the Christmas weekend). La Cage is both a comic and sentimental look at the onstage antics and backstage relationships at a St. Tropez drag cabaret.

Benevolent witchcraft goes awry in the third offering of the Villagers' season Bell, Book and Candle, a concoction of spell-casting, romance and comedy by John Van Druten, will be limited to four weekends.

Gilbert and Sullivan's classic operetta, The Pirates of Penzance, will fill the fourth slot this season. The cast of pirates, maidens, mixed-up police and star-crossed lovers, along with the ever-popular Gilbert and Sullivan score, will be on stage weekends from March 2 to April 1.

One of the longest running comedies in Broadway history will be the next production. Born Yesterday is fresh from a successful Broadway revival. Playwright Garson Kanin takes a vulgar junkman, a naive chorus girl and an idealistic reporter through skulduggery and crooked government deals into an unexpected romance. It will run April 20 through May 13.

The final show of the Villagers season is to be announced, and will run June 1 through June 24 on weekends.

The Villagers are offering subscriptions to all six shows at a substantial discount. Friday and Saturday subscriptions are available for $48 each and Sunday subscriptions are $36. Full-time students and senior citizens are eligible for further discounts to Friday and Sunday subscriptions. Single tickets are offered for musicals at $12 Fridays and Saturdays and $10 Sundays. Plays are $11 Fridays and Saturdays and $9 Sundays. Discounts are also available to student and senior single-ticket purchasers on Fridays and Sundays.

Information on subscriptions and single tickets may be obtained by calling the Franklin Villagers Barn Theatre at (201) 873-2710. The theater is located in the Franklin Township Municipal Complex at 475 DeMott Lane (between Easton Avenue and Amstell Road) in the Somerset section of Franklin Township. There is plenty of free parking on-site, and the theater is fully heated and air-conditioned.

Casting Call

McCarter Theatre is looking for talented children aged six to 14 to perform in this year's production of A Christmas Carol. Sign-ups for auditions will be held Saturday from 1 to 4:30 p.m. in the lobby of the theatre. No appointments will be taken over the phone.

Acting Classes Offered By Resident of Princeton

Judith Robinson, a professional actress who has appeared on Broadway, off-Broadway, in national tours and in various television programs, will teach acting classes for adults and teenagers at the Arts Council this fall.

Ms. Robinson's professional experience includes a major role in the Broadway production of Dark at the Top of the Stairs, directed by Elia Kazan, and a recent appearance as a guest artist in Fefu and Her Friends at the Acting Studio of Princeton University. She also appeared on The Guiding Light as a main character for two years. Her teaching background includes the American Theatre Wing, New York City; YMHA, New York City; three years at the Mercer School for the Performing Arts; and private classes in Princeton.

The class will combine acting, creative movement, and relaxation techniques as an approach to learning how to use oneself in a creative way — both on-stage and off. Both the adult and teenage sessions will be ongoing and will culminate in a public performance in May.

The teenage classes are on Wednesdays from 5 to 6:30 and will run in eight-week cycles. The cost is $125. The adult classes are on Wednesdays from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. and will also run in eight-week cycles. The cost is $135.

The first class will be on September 27. For more information, call 921-3349.

Norwegian Acting Group To Perform at McCarter

Last March, McCarter Theatre took its production of James McLure's Pvt. Wars to the Open Theatre of Oslo, Norway. This production marked the first European engagement by McCarter Theatre as well as the first European engagement by McCarter Theatre as well as the first part of a theater exchange arranged by Nagle Jackson, McCarter's artistic director, and Anne-May Nilsen of Oslo. Ms. Nilsen is the founder and artistic director of the Open Theatre, Oslo's equivalent to New York's LaMama. In her theater she has introduced Norway's most important "avant-garde" and contemporary work to Oslo.

The second half of this international theater exchange will take place September 20 through 24 when the Trondelag Theatre, one of Norway's most venerable and respected repertory theaters, travels from its home base in Trondheim to McCarter. The play they will bring, The Case of Harriet Grinde was first presented by Ms. Nilsen at the Open Theatre. This new and revised production is one of the major events in Scandinavian theater this season.

This production will be in the intimate Stage Two presentation style, placing the audience up on stage with the actors. Merete Wiger's searing drama penetrates deep into the broken life of one Harriet Grinde, now left violent and at the edge of sanity in a psychiatric hospital. From gloomy reality to intriguing dream sequences, she travels through past and present on the road to recovery.

But the battle for her recovery has become a struggle between two doctors, and

Inaugural Event Planned By New Steinway Society

The newly-formed Steinway Society will present pianist Phyllis Alpert Lehrer in recital Friday, September 8, in an inaugural gala at the Hyatt Regency Princeton at 8 p.m.

Ms. Lehrer, winner of the 1986 Artists International Distinguished Artists Piano Award, will play works by Mozart, Schubert and Chopin. In addition to the piano recital, the gala will include an art show, a Steinway documentary and a reception for artists and guests. Although there is no charge for the event, guests will be encouraged to become members of the society.

The goals of the Steinway Society, as stated in a press release, are "to promote excellence in musical expression, to share musical experiences and to support talented musicians." The Society plans additional events in January, March and May, which will combine recitals, art shows and receptions.

At one of these events developing musicians will be featured in the Steinway Showcase for advanced students of the piano. Each participant will receive a personal critique from a panel of professional musicians. "Music is a shared experience and should not be competitive," said board secretary Mari Molenaar in explaining the philosophy of the board.

Phyllis A. Lehrer

A major goal of the Society is to establish a scholarship fund to subsidize piano lessons and provide practice pianos for aspiring students who would not be able to afford them on their own. Alfred Kotsch, founder and president of the board designed this project.

"I have always felt that musical talent was distributed across all income levels," he said. "It is the access to training which is limited. The Society's scholarship program will help subsidize that training."

Other board members include Casimer Kossikowski, trumpet player and production manager of the New Jersey Symphony, and Frances Merritt, attorney and singer of art songs.

Sweet Honey in the Rock Here for LDF Benefit

Bernice Johnson Reagon is returning to Princeton with Sweet Honey in the Rock and a genius award under her belt.

The founder and director of Sweet Honey in the Rock, a well-known women's gospel quintet, is a curator at the National Museum of American History at the Smithsonian Institution, where she founded the program in black culture. Ms. Reagon was named one of this year's 29 MacArthur Fellows (popularly named "genius awards") by the John D. and Catherine T. MacArthur Foundation.

Twenty years ago Bernice Reagon worked with Princeton youth in the Witherspoon Presbyterian Church's summer program. On Sunday, October 22, she will bring her famous singing group to the Institute for Advanced Study to entertain at a cabaret buffet to benefit the NAACP Legal Defense and Educational Fund, Inc. (LDF), a civil rights legal agency which uses the American system of laws to secure and defend the legal and constitutional rights of black Americans, other racial minorities and women in the courts.

Sweet Honey in the Rock has gathered large and enthusiastic audiences — white and black, young and graying — at Lincoln Center, Carnegie Hall, Madison Square Garden, the Hollywood Bowl, and Constitution Hall, Washington, D.C. It has also performed in 11 cities in Japan, the Edinburgh Festival and the U.N. Decade for Women Conference in Kenya. Sweet Honey's songs are of maternal love, third-world debt, disarmament, freedom, faith and sensuous love delivered in styles as diverse as Chicago blues, West African chants, folk standards, hymns and improvised jazz.

The cabaret buffet, sponsored by the Princeton Committee for LDF, will be held from 4:30 to 7 in the dining room of the Institute for Advanced Study. Tickets at $35 each must be ordered by September 30. For reservations or further information, call Fannie Floyd, 921-8429 or Nannette Gibson 924-1043, co-chairpersons.

Honors Ensemble Is Set For Young Musicians

In celebration of Westminster Conservatory's 20th anniversary, the newly formed Honors Ensemble will offer young instrumentalists an opportunity for musical growth through chamber music.

Participants will be chosen on a competitive basis by the chamber music coordinator and department heads. Ensembles will rehearse regularly, receive coaching from artist faculty, and will perform at least once a semester. Participants will receive tuition benefits toward private study at the Conservatory.

Young musicians accepted into the honors ensemble program will be introduced to the rewards of chamber music — learning to play together without a conductor and enjoying the special communication and give-and-take unique to this way of making music.

For more information call the Conservatory Main Office at 921-7104.

10-Week Course Is Set For Handbell Ringers

Westminster Conservatory of Music will offer a handbell seminar designed for ringers and handbell directors who are interested in expanding their knowledge and expertise in handbell technique and repertoire.

In addition to the ten week seminar, a handbell choir will be formed for the more advanced handbell ringer. Previous experience is a prerequisite. The seminar and the handbell choir will be conducted by Karl Zinsmeister, adjunct instructor for Westminster Choir College.

Classes will meet Monday evenings. Auditions for the handbell choir will be Monday and Tuesday, from 7:30 to 9 p.m. Call the Conservatory main office, 921-7104, to schedule an audition time or for more information.

Mostly a Cappella Tryouts

Mostly a Cappella, a choral ensemble based in Hopewell, has openings for singers in all voice parts. The group rehearses weekly in Hopewell and performs several times a year in the central New Jersey and Bucks County areas.

Mostly a Cappella performs a wide range of a cappella literature, including motets, madrigals, spirituals, jazz and modern works.

Singers should have a good sense of pitch and rhythm, some sight-reading ability, and be able to learn a tune quickly. Auditions may be arranged by calling the director, Norm Hurst, at 466-9465.

t would take 7½ hours travel time to have a dinner of Long Beach Island crabmeat soup, Hunterdon County goose liver, Cape May salmon roses, and Bordentown cranberry cobbler.

Unless, of course, you dine at Palmer's at Princeton's Nassau Inn.

Free Organ Recital By Westminster Dean

Richard Webb, Dean of Westminster Choir College, will be the featured organist at the first event of the Central New Jersey Chapter of the American Guild of Organists. He will play a program of Spanish and Russian organ music and Pasacaglia and Fugue in B-flat Minor on Bach by Karg-Elert.

The free recital will take place Friday, September 15, at 8 p.m. in Bristol Chapel on the Westminster campus, Hamilton Avenue and Walnut Lane.

Richard Webb

Dr. Webb has performed extensively throughout the United States as an organist, pianist and harpsichordist. Prior to his appointment at Westminster, he was chair of the music department at San Francisco State University. While Dean of the San Francisco Chapter of the American Guild of Organists, he played a dedicatory recital on the new Ruffatti organ, which is the largest concert hall instrument in North America.

For more information about the recital or membership in the local organist's chapter, call Jan Pak, dean of the chapter, at (201) 369-3956.

Auditions Are Planned For Young String Players

Auditions will be held the third week in September for the 1989-90 season of the Greater Princeton Youth String Preparatory Orchestra. The String Preparatory Orchestra has openings for qualified string players in elementary and junior high school. Viola, cello and bass students are especially needed.

Auditions and rehearsals this season will be held on the campus of the Westminster Choir College.

The String Preparatory Orchestra, conducted by John Enz, is beginning its 11th season. The orchestra is made up of approximately 50 student members from five nearby countries in New Jersey and Pennsylvania. It meets for weekly rehearsals on Thursday evenings, and will give two Sunday afternoon performances, January 28 and May 13, which are free and open to the public. This group helps to prepare children to move on to the Greater Princeton Youth Orchestra, a high school and college orchestra.

For information and an audition appointment, call Holly Clemans, manager, at 737-1866.

Series of Dance Classes Offered at Douglass

Dance classes for children and teens will again be offered by the dance department of Rutgers' Mason Gross School of the Arts beginning October 14. Classes will be held in the dance studios of the Nicholas Music Center on the Douglass College campus.

Registration will remain open through October 7 for the 20-session programs, which will run on designated Saturdays through early April. Tuition is $75.

Children's classes will be taught by Lily Schrager, a specialist in the field, and teen classes will be taught by Sylvia Sepulveda.

For registration and information, call the dance department at (201) 932-8497. Stretch classes for adults will also be offered.

All qualified choral singers in the Princeton area:

In the past few years, a group of 30 to 40 members from the community has occasionally combined with the Princeton University Glee Club and the Princeton University Chapel Choir, under my direction, to present performances in Richardson Auditorium that would have been impossible for a young chorus unaided by more mature voices. Thus the Berlioz "Requiem" was performed in February 1987, and a program featuring the Brahms "Tranquillo" in February of this year.

The Glee Club and Chapel Choir members and I have all enjoyed this most fruitful collaboration, and I believe our audiences have shared our enjoyment. Indeed, the entire venture has been so successful that I am persuaded to try it again for either or both of the following pairs of dates: March 2 and 3, and April 27 and 28. As usual, schedules will be arranged that will prevent interference with regular membership in church choirs and community choruses.

For the April concerts, the first work that I am going to probe is the Beethoven "Missa solemnis." Bristling with difficulties and rarely performed because of them, the Beethoven is nevertheless, in my opinion, one of a handful of authentic musical masterpieces. With a large portion of the musical resources of this community, with lots of hard work and with an early start, I am convinced that we can do performances of which Princeton may be proud. In short, this is an invitation to those of you who have always longed to sing the "Missa solemnis" but were afraid to ask! At least have the courage to embark upon this great adventure with me; for one thing, no one else comparably rash may come along during your lifetime!

The other possibilities for March and April are the Bach "St. John Passion" and the Haydn "Creation," both much less problematical but enormously rewarding. Most importantly, if you are an experienced soprano, alto, tenor or bass, and if you are interested by any part of the foregoing, please phone 452-3048 weekdays before 3 p.m. Any questions you may have will be answered, and an audition time will be assigned to you if you wish to proceed further. Many thanks.

Sincerely yours

News of Clubs and Organizations

The West Windsor Retirees Group will begin its second season on Tuesday with a meeting in the West Windsor library, behind the Town Hall. The group will meet each Tuesday at 10 a.m.

Their purpose is to meet other retirees, hear about happenings in the area, learn about subjects of interest to retirees, find ways they can benefit the community, and have a good time.

Sam Earle, publisher and editor of The Chronicle, will speak on Tuesday, Linda Milstein of Mercer County Community College will speak on September 19, and Det. Barry Hibbs of the West Windsor Police Department will address the group on September 26.

All West Windsor retirees are invited to attend. For more information, call 799-1642.

Laraine C. Abbey will speak on Sunday at 2 p.m. at the Princeton Bio Center, 862 Route 518, Skillman. The meeting, sponsored by the Schizophrenia Foundation of New Jersey, is free and open to the public. Ms. Abbey's talk is entitled "The Role of Megavitamins and Food Allergy in Managing Common Health Problems."

Ms. Abbey is a clinical nutritionist and co-founder and professional director of the RNA Centers for weight control and health through nutrition. A question-and-answer period will follow the lecture.

For more information or directions to the center, call 924-8607.

The Princeton Chess Club, an affiliate of the United States Chess Federation, will meet Thursday nights at 7 on the porch of the Bramwell House of the YWCA. On September 14 the club will resume its ladder competition, with the first position night of the fall. On position nights, players are assigned the opponent rated closest to them on the club ratings ladder. On September 28, the club will hold its first action chess tournament.

Persons interested in joining the club and participating in these activities, should call Ned Walshall at 924-9088 after 5 p.m.

The Greater Princeton section of National Council of Jewish Women will hold a board meeting on Monday at 7:15 p.m. at the home of Meryl Baum, 43 Drayton Lane, Plainsboro. A board training session is scheduled. The meeting is open to all.

For additional information, call 275-5621.

The New Jersey Dance Alliance will hold a panel discussion, "Dancers and Transitions," on Monday, September 25, at 9 a.m. in the Princeton Ballet Studio, 262 Alexander Street.

The New Jersey Dance Alliance is an association of dance companies, dancers, choreographers, performance artists, and other supporters of dance whose purpose is to increase public awareness of dance in New Jersey, to foster communication and networking within the dance community, and to work in conjunction with other organizations.

National Issues Forum, West Windsor chapter, will conduct its first study circle of the fall on Monday from 7:30 to 9 at West Windsor library. The topic is "The Drug Crisis: Public Strategies for Breaking the Habit."

The forum is nonpartisan and does not take a position.

Singles Again will hold a dance every Saturday in September at the Holiday Inn, Route 1, beginning at 9. Orientation for newcomers will be held at 8:30. Nonmembers are welcome.

For more information, call Carolyn or Tom Adolf at (201) 928-2300.

The Amateur Astronomers Association will meet Tuesday at 8 p.m. in Peyton Hall on the Princeton University campus. Featured speaker will be Prof. P. James E.

P. James E. Peebles

Peebles, Princeton University astrophysicist, whose topic will be "Mapping the Universe." The public is invited.

The Princeton University Chapel Choir

Walter Nollner, Conductor

extends a cordial invitation to any interested and qualified member of the community to audition for membership.

Possible works for the 1989-1990 repertoire include:

HANDEL: MESSIAH (Christmas portion)

BACH: ST. JOHN PASSION

BEETHOVEN: MISSA SOLEMNIS

HAYDN: SEVEN LAST WORDS OF CHRIST

and a great deal more, including

Haydn and Mozart missa brevises and other distinguished anthems (with and without instruments) for the Sunday morning services.

The Princeton University Chapel choir is a paid choir

ART

Philadelphia Museums On Day Trip Itinerary

Artworks is planning a day trip to two museums in Philadelphia on Thursday, September 14. The bus will leave the Princeton Shopping center at 9 a.m. and return to Princeton by 5 p.m.

The morning stop will be the Pennsylvania University Museum of Archaeology and Anthropology to see "Freudian Antiquities: Fragments from a Buried Past." Sigmund Freud's passion for collecting antiquities has left a legacy of more than 2,500 Greek, Roman, Near Eastern, and African objects to view.

At the Philadelphia Museum of Art, some 80 Cezanne sketches and more than 50 Impressionist and Post-impressionist paintings of the Annenberg Collection will be on view. The museum's collection also includes works by artists such as Van Gogh, Monet, Renoir, Degas, Gauguin, Manet, and Matisse.

Cost for the trip is $31 for Artworks members and $38 for nonmembers. For more information, call 921-9173.

Children's Art Workshops Due at the Arts Council

A 12-week art workshop for children in grades one through 6 is being offered by Susan Kriegman at the Arts Council of Princeton. It will begin next week.

Emphasis will be on drawing and design, and lessons will be designed to foster imagination and individuality and to encourage young artists to explore various drawing techniques. A new project will be introduced in each class, along with an explanation of new skills and concepts.

Class size is limited to eight. For information, or to register, call Ms. Kriegman at 275-6553 before Friday.

Classes in Ceramics Set To Begin This Month

Ceramic sculpture classes will begin Wednesday, September 13, from 7 to 9 p.m. in the ceramic studio of the Arts Council of Princeton. The classes will run for eight weeks.

Students will be instructed in various techniques of working with clay. A combination of methods such as pinch, slab and coil will be used. Individual exploration and expression will be encouraged.

Kelly Moran, course instructor, is artist-in-residence and ceramic studio coordinator for the Arts Council. She received a B.F.A. from Louisiana Tech University and has done graduate studies in ceramics at the University of Houston.

To register, or for more information, call or visit the office of the Arts Council, 102 Witherspoon Street, 924-8777. Office hours are Tuesday to Friday, 10 to 6, and Saturday, 10 to 4.

Exhibits

A concurrent joint exhibit of fine art and sculpture may be seen at The Williams Collection Gallery, 6 Olden Lane, and La Paix Sculpture Garden, 22 Richey Place, Trenton, from September 19 to October 31.

Work by Jules Engel, master animator and film graphics artist, will be featured in an exhibit, "Mr. Magoo Goes Arty," with original selections from Mr. Magoo, selected works on paper taken from award-winning short films, and fine art photographs of artists at work.

Ghanian sculptor Benjamin Akroming will be represented with original works in bronze depicting village ceremonial, fetish, ancestral, and spirit figures.

The gallery and sculpture garden are open to the public on Tuesdays from 11 to 4 and by appointment.

The Friends of Howell Farm and area artists will present the farm's "First Annual Picket Fence Art Show" on Saturday from 10 to 4. All art must have been inspired by Howell Farm.

In addition to the art show, there will be an ongoing children's craft program, "Picture Frames," in the farmhouse from 11 to 3.

Howell Farm is located on Valley Road just off Route 29, two miles south of Lambertville.

An exhibit featuring works by Bernice Kisaday Fatto will open with a wine-and-cheese reception in the library of Merwick, 79 Bayard Lane, at 4 p.m. on Friday. The show will run until December 8.

Ms. Fatto is a graduate of Pratt Institute. She has painted in oil with Peter Cook, Nelson Shanks, Graham Young, Lee Stang Harr, and attended watercolor workshops with Carl Schmalz, Lucile Geiser, Nick Reale, and Katherine Chang Liu. Her work is in private collections in many states.

An exhibition of the work of three artists is currently on display at the Chaucer Gallery of Educational Testing Service, Rosedale Road.

Kenneth Feinstein's "Archaeology of the Near Future" series offers views of a changing America. William Hoffman's oil paintings range from the shores of Maine to street scenes in Camden. Jeff Neugebauer's constructions include Evolution, in which the artist uses an architectural motif to show the gradual decline of an inner-city storefront.

The exhibit, which will continue through October 13, is free of charge and open to the public. Hours are weekdays from 9 to 4.

A major exhibition of works celebrating the 25-year history of Artworks will open with a reception on Friday, September 15, from 5 to 8 p.m. at Artworks/Trenton, 19 Everett Alley. The show will continue through November 18.

Many of the more than 100 faculty members who have taught at Artworks in the past 25 years will be represented in the exhibit, which will coincide with the official celebration of the founding of the association. Benefits to celebrate this event are planned for the fall. They include a reception and preview at Artworks/Princeton on October 15 and a dinner, dance, and silent auction on October 21 at Artworks/Trenton.

Tiger Football Team Hoping to Stay Off Roller Coaster, But Finding Quarterback Is Key to Another Good Season

Roller Coaster It's a term Princeton football coach Steve Tosches is trying to erase from the minds of Tiger football fans.

"This program has been on a roller coaster for too many years," the 33-year-old head coach said at the start of last season. Another year has rolled around and Tosches is saying the same thing.

"Our immediate goal, as it was last year, is for us to continue to establish stability and consistency with this program," he continues. "We've had some success along those lines, but by no means are we more victories positioned Princeton for the showdown with Pennsylvania, and another disappointment. In November, the victory over Yale in New Haven, the first in two decades, seemed to pave the way for a positive end, but Dartmouth's win punctured Old Nassau's balloon one last time.

Practice Has Begun. Now the pads and helmets are on again, as Tosches and his crew prepare for the start of this season, Saturday, September 16, against Dartmouth in Hanover. There is talk of "a championship feeling," but it's not coming from this corner. After 20 years now of waiting, it's better to be surprised. And that's what a title this year would be — a big surprise in fact. The time to pull off the feat was last year, with quarterback Jason Garrett (recently cut from the New Orleans Saints) at the helm, brother Judd at running back, some good receivers and a decent defense.

With Jason gone, the Tigers must start the season with an inexperienced player at the most important position on the team. Tosches has plenty of candidates from which to choose, but not one has thrown a pass in varsity competition. There will not be even a remote shot at an Ivy title if a competent, take-charge quarterback does not emerge from the pack of two seniors, three juniors and two sophomores vying for the job. These include seniors Brad Remig and Scott Sellers, juniors Joel Sharp, Frank Ille and Todd Frederick, and sophomores Chad Roghair and Mike Dimarino. At this writing, Sharp, Remig, and Roghair were the top three in the competition.

Will Judd Get a Break? Judd Garrett, who is a mere 600 yards shy of breaking Hank Bjorklund's career rushing mark of 2,363, will be the workhorse in the backfield. Tosches is once again determined not to put the whole offensive pressure on him, but when key yardage is needed Judd will get the ball one way or another. The fullback position is so wide open that Brian Wiethorn is being switched from strong safety to take a shot at running the ball.

The receiving corps will miss two fine performers, wide receiver Dave Wix and tight end Mark Rockefeller, both of whom graduated. Scott Gibbs, who caught 26 passes for 226 yards a year ago, will fill one wide-out spot, while six or seven candidates try for the other. Seniors Tommy Haah and Scott Sefaly are likely to get the starting nod, but they will be pushed by a talented group of sophomores including Mark Rodgers, Mark Wilson and Matt Tarkenton, son of the former NFL quarterback.

After missing most of his junior year with a knee injury, Peter Masloski appears ready to ready to hang our hats on that. We want to reach the next level and set our sights on winning championships."

Well, last year's 6-4 mark, matching the one achieved in 1987, certainly sounds like consistency, but the team took one helluva roller coaster to get there. Without a couple of dips so big they made headlines all over the sports world, Tosches' team would have had consistency and a whole lot more.

The Tigers began on a high at Ithaca, handing Ivy co-champion Cornell its only league loss. One week later they took a dive when Holy Cross pulled off its "Hail Mary" touchdown.

Recovering nicely, they rolled into Wien Stadium in mid-October, unbeaten in the league, to face Columbia. The upset that unfolded that rainy Saturday afternoon will guarantee the Orange and Black a place in football history just as securely as the 1869 contest against Rutgers.

Another recovery and two

STURHAHN, DICKENSON & BERNARD

One of the most fantastic records ever made by a football coach was the one by Gil Dohie. Dohie was a head coach in college football FOR 11 YEARS BEFORE HE LOST HIS FIRST GAME! Dohie started his head coaching career at North Dakota State where he had two undefeated seasons in 1906 and 1907 — and then he became head coach at the University of Washington where he went undefeated every year from 1908 through 1916. Finally in his 12th season, in 1917, Dohie learned what it was like to lose. He was coaching Navy that year and lost to West Virginia in the second game of the season.

One of the strangest pennant races in baseball happened in the National League in 1964. Philadelphia was in first place 134 days that season, then didn't finish first — while St. Louis was NEVER in first place ANY day in 1964 till Sept. 29, and they won the pennant!

Ever wonder where and when the first high school football game in history was played? It was in Andover, Mass., between schools from Andover and Exeter, N.H., in 1876 — seven years after the first college game in history between Princeton and Rutgers.

one of the guard positions, but replacements will have to be found at the other guard position and both tackle spots. Seniors Mike Schumacher and junior Brendan Sullivan will see action at guard; tackle candidates include Charles Jones, John Clevenger, John Melkon and Peter Barclay.

On defense, two of last year's starting front four are back. Seniors Steve Hillegeist and Rick Emery will fill tackle and end positions. Renard Charity may fill the other end slot, and Rob Henricks, who saw plenty of action as back-up last fall, has the inside track at tackle.

The big man on defense will be captain Franco Pagnanelli at middle linebacker. Despite missing almost three games with a hamstring pull, he led the team in tackles with 76. His absence in the Columbia game allowed the Lions to run up the middle consistently. Seniors Gary Kempenski and Boh Spenik played in reserve last year, and should move up to start this fall. Kempenski started several times last year when Ray Ryan was injured.

Secondary Is Set. The Tigers return all six of their defensive backs, including all-Ivy first team selection Frank Leal. His six interceptions at cornerback led the team. Mike Hirou, an all-Ivy honorable mention as a sophomore, was second on the team in tackles from his free safety position.

Vince Avallone, with two years of varsity experience at cornerback, and strong safety Greg Burton hope to retain their starting positions. Trevor Crossen, a wide receiver a year ago, and the specialist on the "end-around play," will be tried in the secondary this season. The best of the sophomores is Brock Matthias, a standout for the freshman team a year ago.

The kicking game is as solid as it has been in years. All-American Chris Lutz began as an unheralded sophomore, and by season's end was the NCAA leader in field goals made per game at 1.9. He also shattered Charlie Gogolak's Princeton record of most points kicking in a season, scoring 83. Remig brought consistency to the punting game with a 34.8 yard average and no blocked kicks in 51 tries.

With seven of the 11 returning starters coming back on defense, we're looking at the old line: "The defense will have to keep the Tigers in the early games, while the offense matures."

Tosches has said he does not consider this to be a rebuilding year, despite the quality players lost through graduation. With a decent number of returning starters, plus several other players with game experience, and a freshman team that has gone 9-3 the last two years, he is looking for something more.

If he solves the quarterback problem, he'll get it.

Next Week: A look at Princeton's chances, its opponents, and the Dartmouth preview.

PHS Line Needs Shoring In Middle; Ends Strong

Strong at either end, weak in the interior, sums up the pre-season assessment of the Princeton High football line. It is not stretching the Little Tiger outlook too far this year to say that PHS will live or die depending on the performance of the interior line.

"We are working very hard in getting that line to mature and develop," said PHS coach Kurt Vollherbst, "so it will be able to get some holes for our running backs and protect our quarterback."

"Everybody is going to have to be in shape," he stressed, "because a lot of players will be getting a lot of playing time." In fact, more playing time than he would like to see, Vollherbst acknowledged.

Vollherbst and his staff got a first look in a scrimmage with South Hunterdon on Friday, the day after his squad returned from a four-day camp in Pennsylvania. Another pre-season workout will come Saturday in a final scrimmage against New Brunswick before the season's opener the following Saturday against Nuttingham.

The line is strongest at either end where Vollherbst admits he is "all right there." Veteran Amman Pope, who played split end last year, heads a list of four wide receivers. Said Vollherbst, "He's a good, solid player."

Behind Pope is another senior, Stayton Wood, who, like Pope, is a little short for the position. Both are 5-8. Two sophomore backups are Kyle O'Donnell and Doug Smith.

Morris Moves to End. At tight end, the top contender is Rob Morris, 5-11, 185-pounds, who last year in the first half of the season, battled Scott McGoldrick for — and won — the starting quarterback role. Morris is a scrappy, intense, hard-nosed player; pound for pound, there is none better on the team. "He is going to be a great blocker for us," enthused Vollherbst.

Behind Morris are two juniors, Kobie Schutz and Curtis Jurrens and sophomore John Meslin. "We have some depth there," agreed Vollherbst.

As for the tackles, guards and center, where PHS has been hurt the most by the graduation of Robert Buzard, John Molinelli and Steve Petrecca, and by a coterie of players who decided not to come out this year, Vollherbst commented, "We have offensive linemen; we have no tackles or guards. They're all the same, they are all candidates for one of the positions."

Only two are returning veterans: Mike Joyce, a tackle last year, and Garret Morris, a guard. Two running backs last year that have been moved up front are Barton Metcalf, a senior, whom Vollherbst reports is happy to be on the line, and junior Dana Bruce. Guy Romain, a junior, is another back that has been moved into the line.

Three sophomores listed on the chart are Terrance Nelson, John Rak and Eugene Leung. Leung's brother last year captained the Lawrenceville School football team.

Admitted Vollherbst: "We lack size and experience. The younger kids we have are going to have to grow in a hurry to help the seniors out. They can't do it themselves."

New Coaches on Staff. New faces also make up Vollherbst's staff this fall. His associate coach, Doug Snyder, the school's head basketball coach, has opted to concentrate on coaching basketball. Jim Harris, a former PHS football player, moves up as Vollherbst's top assistant.

Assistant coaches Dave Marino, Dan McHarris and Bob Reif are gone. They have been replaced by Andy Vaughn, a second-year student at Princeton Seminary, who played free safety at Davidson in college, and Derek Leathers, a Princeton University junior who was injured and will not be able to play football for the Tigers this year. Vaughn will coach the defensive backs and receivers, Leathers the offensive line and defensive ends.

Two new freshman coaches are Mark Gabbard, a resident of Colorado and a second-year student at the Seminary, and Scott Whitaker, another University student.

Neither played the sport in college but Whitaker, Vollherbst reports, coached last year at Princeton Day School under Jim Walker.

Team Effort Is Needed For PHS Soccer Victories

Asked to list his team's strengths this week, Princeton High soccer coach Ron Celestin replied slowly: "I don't think we are strong in any given areas."

"It has to be a full team effort to be a successful year. Everyone is going to have to contribute."

Celestin, a former standout player for the Little Tigers in the late '70s, is starting his fourth year as head coach. He will need all his coaching skills because he lost most of last year's varsity to graduation. "We're a young team. We're basically a junior-related team this year," said Celestin.

In previous years, Celestin has ventured to predict how the Little Tigers would perform — always a little on the optimistic side. Each year, he has been disappointed. Last year's record was 7-11-2.

So it is understandable when he says this time, "No predictions. We have a lot of new players. It will be mainly a matter of just getting used to each other. Just taking time to think about the game ahead, and not worrying about anything else."

Princeton will open its season next Friday, September 15, at Hopewell Valley High in Pennington. "It should be a good test for us," predicted Celestin. "Hopewell is a good ball club. They've been there the last three and four years."

Of the Little Tigers' 18 games this fall, ten will be home-and-home games with Hopewell, Hamilton, McCorristin, Lawrence and Nottingham. There are single games against Steinert, West Windsor, Notre Dame, Hightstown, Trenton and Ewing — all bigger schools — and against two prep schools, Hun and Peddie.

"Every game is going to be tough," sighed Celestin.

Numbers a Problem. Like all PHS varsity teams in recent years, the soccer squad is not overflowing with candidates. Celestin reports he is working with about 14 on the varsity right now and hopes that a few newcomers will pick up the slack.

Senior Aaron Burt, a forward, and defenseman Ali Ashraf, another senior, will co-captain this year's squad. Junior Scott Petrone returns as goalie.

Two other seniors are mid-fielder Dan Horowitz and Max Chessler. Returning juniors, in addition to Petrone, are Greg Kessler, defense and mid-fielder, and forwards Seth Meisel and Victor Ordenez.

Junior newcomers to the varsity include Tony Malangone, who was hurt last year, Bryan Hutchinson, and Gerry Prette, all forwards; fullback Iver Raphael, and defenseman Shawn Reddy. Sophomore Jeremy Trelstad is slotted as a defenseman.

Two newcomers to the school from Texas are Brian Maloney, a junior, and his younger brother Brendon, a freshman. "Both have played the sport before and hopefully they will make a contribution," offered Celestin. Although the depth chart is thin at the moment, Celestin added, somewhat hopefully, "I'm sure some more names will be added later."

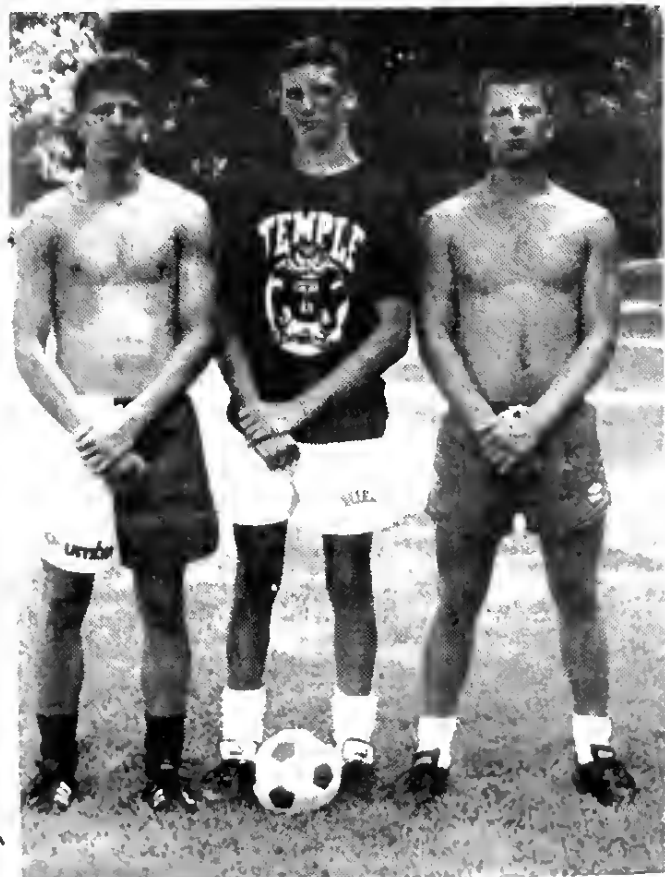

Celestin reports that he hopes to be able to schedule one or two scrimmages before the start of the season. There are jayvee and freshman teams but at the moment he has no one helping him coach the varsity. "I'm working with 45 to 50 kids and it's the kids who are suffering," he said.

For now, the modus operandi will be: Everyone contribute, take one game at a time, and hope for the best.

Hun Booters in Action In Shipley Tournament

"We're definitely thin; we're not deep," said Hun soccer coach Frank Rizzo this week, as he led his team in practice in preparation for the annual four-team, two-game Shipley Tournament at the Shipley School in Pennsylvania. The tournament starts Saturday. Last year, Hun defeated host Shipley by a goal and lost to Hill School in the finals en route to a 10-9 season.

Rizzo is working with a squad of about 25 as he starts his third year at the helm. "We're replacing almost the entire defense," said Rizzo. "It was a good unit last year. A lot of the kids had been playing together since grammar school. We don't have that unity."

"It's tough to get a good blend. I hope by mid-season we will reach our potential and have a strong finish. We're not as experienced as we have been the past two years."

Seniors returning from last year's varsity include Tom Chiachio, attack; midfielders Ted Curvy and Brady Halper, Mike Vogler, defense and Anacleto Origone, a goalie whom Rizzo plans to move this fall.

Two newcomers who will certainly see action are middy Mike D'Allegro, a post-graduate student from Montgomery High, and junior forward Stefano Rossi, son of Rizzo's new assistant, Maurizio Rossi.

Creating Opportunities. In Rossi and Chiachio, he has, says Rizzo, a couple of fine forwards who can bring the ball up on offense. "But it's a question of how often we can create opportunities for our midfield." At the moment, Rizzo says there is no emerging field general who can lead.

Hun starts its regular season next Saturday at Newark Academy. As for any outlook, Rizzo feels the team is going to have to work hard and see what happens. "Based on last year's finish, I'd say we'll be pressed to equal that."

Unlike last year when the Mercer County Tournament was open to any team that wanted to participate — and had to be cancelled after the opening round — Rizzo explained that a tournament committee will select only eight teams this year. "Certainly, that is a goal," he said.

Among the preps, Rizzo named "Lawrenceville certainly," as one of the traditionally strong foes that have given Hun problems (the Larries blanked Hun, 6-0, and 4-0 in two regular season meetings and defeated them 7-1 in post-season play.)

Peddie, continued Rizzo, has always been "a fair, tough challenge for us each year." After noting that Hun had defeated the Golden Falcons twice last year in two of its better outings, Rizzo commented, "It's time for them to rebound."

Hun Eleven Bolstered By Returning Lettermen

An advance warning for opponents of the Hun School football team: watch out for the Raiders this fall!

"We have a lot of lettermen back on offense," confirmed third-year coach Bill Long, as Hun prepares for its opener next Saturday against Newark Academy. This from a team that finished 5-3 last year, despite losing three of its last four.

The backfield is loaded. Senior Cecil Boone, 6-2, 240 pounds, returns at fullback. Steve Kertesz, Hun's leading scorer last year with six TDs, is back at one of the running back slots.

A solid, 6-0, 200 pounds, Kertesz is a slashing, hard-running back.

Opposite Kertesz is sophomore Doug Bullock, who broke into the lineup last year as a freshman. "He's young but he is good and he has speed," said Long.

At quarterback is Todd Coyer, another returning letterman, although only a sophomore. Coyer was thrust into the starting role last year when a pre-season leg injury sidelined Jim Sheeder for the entire season. Coyer responded to the challenge despite his lack of size and experience, scoring four times and throwing the ball for five more scores.

"Todd is 20 pounds heavier and has a lot more confidence," said Long. "He'll be in complete charge of the team this year."

Up front is more good news for Hun. Frank Chun is one of the captains of the team and a four-year starter at guard. Tackle Alex Whitman, 6-1, 220, is a senior letterman and has done a great job in camp this year, reports Long. Center George Cole, 210, 6-0, is a three-year starter on the line.

Also returning are B.J. Michaud, a senior guard, senior Ricky Uhr, a beefy offensive tackle, split end Joe Timervin, another senior, and defensive end Jim Baker, a 6-0, 170-pound senior.

There's more. Returning seniors include defensive ends Matt Vinson and Josh Rubenstein, linebacker Rick Stanley, and Jason Montelare — a middle guard who will play both ways, says Long.

Among juniors returning with experience are defensive back Matt Rurdzy, guard Andy Nelson, and safety Matt Hyldahl. Marco Piroae, Brendan Doyle and Aaron Hauser are all junior linemen up from the jayvee squad. A newcomer, is junior defensive back Nate have decent size in the offensive line." In Boone and Kertesz, he added, Hun also has good size in the backfield and speed and quickness in Bullock and Coyer.

Long and his five assistants have been working with a squad of 43 in their pre-season camp, which includes two sessions a day and a third in the evening in shorts. "The kids are exhausted — and so are the coaches," smiled Long, who places a high premium on conditioning. "We push 'em."

Hun has had preseason scrimmages against Pennington School and against undefeated Riverdale from New York. Long expects a tough opening game against Newark Academy on the 16th at the Minutemen's field. "After we beat them last year [Hun blanked NA 18-0 in its second game] they came back to win seven straight. It should be a good game," Long predicted.

Option Offense. Hun will go again with an option offense and, because of the size of Boone and Kertesz, Long added, "we'll run a lot of two-back offense."

The Hun offense will not be limited to the ground, however. "We threw the ball a lot last year and we'll keep the same mix," Long stated. "We have a lot of good athletes who can catch the ball. And we do pass. We just don't practice it. We throw the ball in all situations."

Looking back over last year, Long, who turned a floundering football program around in his first year at Hun, commented, "We had only one bad game last year against Blair (a 41-20 loss to a very good Blair team.)"

This year, Long admits he is optimistic and "feels good" about the upcoming season. For Hun opponents that means Long and his Raiders have every intention of reducing the number of their "bad games" this year to none.

Andy's Tavern Champs Of Princeton Softball

Andy's Tavern did it. With its 2-0 shutout of Rhino's last week in the third and deciding playoff game, Andy's has accomplished what no other team has done in the 1980s in the Princeton Adult Softball League: win both the regular-season and playoff championships. This is the second time in a decade that Andy's has pulled ed off a "double." Their first was in 1983.

Following a shaky performance in a loss to Rhino's in his last start, Andy's pitcher Jeff Grover was masterful, shutting out the hard-hitting Rhino's on five hits. Previously, Rhino's had raked Grover for 19 hits and 14 runs.

"Jeff came right back," said teammate Jeff Petrone. "He had his pitches up; there were a lot of popouts."

Andy's was to score the only run it needed in the first inning when, with the bases full, Jim Lennon singled home Kevin Phox. Andy's added an insurance run in the fourth when Petrone's sacrifice fly, with the bases jammed again, plated Ron Kane. Dino D'Angelo had an outstanding defensive game at second for the victors.

"It was a very good year," summed up Petrone, one of five Petrone brothers on the team. "We accomplished what we set out to do. I just hope it continues next year. Start out the '90s with a win."

The odds are Andy's will be a top contender again, since the team has been together for a long time. The original core of Jack, James and Jeff Petrone, Grover, Bruce Daniels and Lennon have been teammates since 1973, starting as Center Sports. Ten years later, a second nucleus appeared: Judd and Jason Petrone, Alex Versfeld, Kane and Scott Porreca.

In 1983-84 the players performed as Princeton Nautilus. Since 1985 the team banner has been Andy's Tavern.

INTRODUCING THE SAAB 9000.
A REAL CAR
FOR THE PRICE OF A 190E.

For about the same money you'd have to pay out for a so-called "Baby Mercedes," you can have a full-grown Saab 9000.

Standard features of the Saab 9000 include Saab's turbocharged 16-valve engine, a completely new Automatic Climate Control system, and something that the 190E can't even offer as an option: room for five adults to travel in real comfort.

Come and see one for yourself soon.

OBITUARIES

Howard W. Stepp, Princeton University's registrar emeritus and former head coach of swimming, died August 30 at Princeton Medical Center. He was 85 and lived on Pretty Brook Road.

In failing health from a stroke suffered several years ago, Mr. Stepp was inducted into the International Swimming Hall of Fame last May in a ceremony held at his home. He was honored for his service and contributions to swimming through his 25 years as coach of Princeton swimming, a three-year stint as coach of Poland's Olympic swimming team and a lifetime involvement with youth. His career included 17 years of service as Juvenile Court Referee in Princeton Borough and two terms as a New Jersey State Assemblyman.

Born in East Haven, Conn., Mr. Stepp developed into a competitive diver and swimmer at Hillhouse High School in New Haven, where he was captain of the swimming team through three seasons. He became a protege of Yale's distinguished swimming coach, the late Robert Kiphuth, and in 1927 joined Yale's staff as an assistant swimming coach.

When Princeton found itself without a swimming coach midway in the 1928 season, Yale loaned him to Princeton for the rest of the season. At the end of the season, he was invited to join the Princeton staff full time.

That was the start of one of the most successful coaching careers in Princeton athletic history, in which Mr. Stepp became the acknowledged "dean" of all active Princeton varsity coaches. During his tenure, Princeton swimming teams compiled a .711 winning average, a percentage representing 162 victories in 228 meets.

Recipient of the 25-year service award of the College Swimming Coaches Association in 1950, he served at various times as president of the New Jersey Amateur Athletic Union and chairman of the NCAA Swimming Rules committee and was a member of the U.S. Olympic, Pan American Games, and National AAU Swimming Committees.

Asked just prior to World War II to advise the Polish government on physical education and recreation, Mr. Stepp developed that nation's Olympic training program and coached the swimming team that was to represent Poland in the 1940 Games at Helsinki. During World War II, he was New Jersey chairman of the Polish Relief Commission and was active in other war service organizations.

From 1944 to 1946, Mr. Stepp served as acting director of Princeton Athletics. He was named acting registrar in 1946, and in 1947 the appointment was made permanent. He retired as registrar in 1969 and became vice president of The Bunbury Company, a philanthropic foundation set up by his close friend, the late Dean Mathey, to which he devoted the remainder of his life, becoming chairman and director in 1974 and chairman emeritus in 1986.

Keenly interested in young people, Mr. Stepp served for more than two decades as faculty director of the Princeton Summer Camp at Blairstown, an undergraduate-operated camp for underprivileged youngsters. He was juvenile referee from 1947 to 1966 and also served as a trustee or director of Princeton Country Day School, The Hun School, the YMCA and Nassau Broadcasting Company.

Author of numerous articles on swimming and diving, he was a member of the Nassau Club and Springdale Golf Club.

Surviving are his wife, Dorothy Taylor Stepp; a son, Howard Jr. of Roswell, Ga.; a daughter, Mrs. E.T. Tower of Edmonds, Wash.; a sister, Harriet Ryan of East Haven, Conn.; six grandchildren and six great-grandchildren.

A private funeral service was held at a Pennington funeral home. Burial was also private.

Mary Lilly Sage, former executive director of the Princeton Chapter of the American Red Cross, died September 4 at Princeton Medical Center. She was 85 and lived in Montgomery Township.

Born in Ellicott City, Md., Mrs. Sage had lived in the Princeton area since 1942. She was a graduate of Towson, Md., Normal School and received her master's degree in education from Johns Hopkins University in Baltimore. She was executive director of the Princeton Chapter of the American Red Cross from 1942 until retiring in 1969. She then became director of volunteers for the Lloyd McCorkle Training School for Boys in Skillman.

She is survived by her husband, Geoffrey E. Sage, captain, U.S. Naval Reserve.

Private interment will be in the U.S. Naval Academy Cemetery, Annapolis, Md. Arrangements are under the direction of the Kimble Funeral Home. Memorial contributions may be made to the Montgomery First Aid Squad, PO Box 105, Belle Mead, 08502, or to a charity of the donor's choice.

Evangeline Neres, 56, died September 1 at home. Born in Derby, Conn., Mrs. Neres lived in Plainfield, Westfield, California and Beirut, Lebanon, before moving to Princeton five years ago.

A 1954 graduate of Rutgers University who was named Miss Rutgers in 1952, Mrs. Neres was a former elementary school teacher and lecturer. She had a lifelong interest in politics, music and theater and while living in California owned and operated an actors studio in Newport Beach. She also produced the motion picture The Hunting Season.

Surviving are her husband, John Neres; two daughters, Kimberly A. Neres-Cooke of Princeton and Stephani O. Gjerdrum of Palo Alto, Calif.; a son, John O. Neres of West Hollywood, Calif.; two sisters, Yota Switzgabel of Princeton and Elaine Jerome of Lawrenceville; and two granddaughters, Anika and Caitlen Gjerdrum.

The service was held in St. George's Greek Orthodox Church, Trenton, the Rev. Dimitrios Calogredes officiating. Burial was in Princeton Cemetery. Arrangements were under the direction of the Kimble Funeral Home.

RELIGION

Covenanting Ceremony Set by Lutheran Church

Lutheran Church of the Messiah will return to its regular schedule this Sunday, with the worship service at 10:30 and Sunday School and Bible classes at 9.

The morning worship this Sunday will celebrate the 25th anniversary of the Northeast Career Center, an ecumenical, church-related, nonprofit organization which provides counseling and career guidance for clergy, seminarians, church-employed persons and other professionals. The Rev. Dr. Roy Lewis, director of the Northeast Career Center, will deliver the sermon.

Messiah Lutheran's new parish building, which was granted site plan approval by the Planning Board last July, will provide a new home for the Northeast Career Center. The new parish building will also provide new church offices, wheelchair accessibility for all facilities, meeting space for congregational programs and new restrooms.

The worship service will include a covenanting ceremony to highlight the coming together of the two ministries. The service will be followed by a reception and fellowship hour. All are invited.

For more information call the Rev. Dr. John M. Goerss, pastor of Messiah Lutheran, at 924-3642.

Four-fold Growth Noted By Kingston Methodists

Three years ago, Kingston United Methodist Church consisted of 10 members and its pastor was employed one day a week. Today, the membership is up to 40 to 50 persons, and the Rev. Byron Leasure is a full-time pastor.

The church's philosophy, as stated by the pastor, is to serve the community and to be open to its needs. An Alcoholics Anonymous group meets on Saturday, Monday, Thursday and Friday, and there are several other 12-step programs which use the church facilities. Adult Children of Alcoholics meet on Tuesdays. Overeaters Anonymous meetings are held on Tuesday evenings; Narcotics Anonymous meets Sunday evenings; and Co-Dependents Anonymous meets on Sunday afternoons, Monday evenings, Tuesday evenings, Thursday afternoons, Friday evenings and Saturday mornings.

Sunday morning worship is at 10 and all are welcome. The church is located behind the Kingston Post Office. For a complete list of meeting times and other church activities, call 466-1834.

Bulletin Notes

"Homecoming" for Nassau Presbyterian Church will take place on Sunday. This annual event celebrates the return from vacation and the beginning of the new church year.

A full roster of activities is planned, beginning with the last summer-schedule service, which will be held at 10 a.m. in the main sanctuary. Fifty-year members of the church will be honored during the service. Following the service, a "Know Your Church" fair will take place. Visitors and members will have an opportunity to learn about and sign up for various courses and volunteer activities, including a "Theological Book of the Month Club," teaching or helping out at the Trenton Crisis Ministry, and a Spring '90 European study tour in the footsteps of the great reformers.

In addition, there are several special interest and support groups, as well as "one-shot" mini-courses scheduled throughout the year on a variety of social and theological issues. The fair will be followed by a barbecued chicken picnic on the church grounds, open to both members and visitors at a cost of $4 for adults and $3 for children.

Nassau Church is actively seeking to include single adults, students and families who are new to the Princeton area or currently seeking a church home. Visitors are welcome to this "Homecoming" Sunday, as well as to the regular services that begin at 9:30 and 11 on September 17. The church is located directly across from Palmer Square on Nassau Street.

The Jewish Center will hold two membership hagel brunches in September. Members, as well as those who would like to learn more about the Jewish Center, are welcome to attend. The brunches will be held this Monday at 9 a.m. and on Sunday, September 24, at 9:30 a.m. in the lobby of the Jewish Center, 435 Nassau Street.

For more information, call 921-0100.

"Mary Baker Eddy: A Heart in Protest," an award-winning documentary on the pioneer religious leader and founder of the Christian Science church, will be shown nationwide on the Discovery Channel on Sunday at 8 p.m.

Narrated by Robert Duvall against a background of old and new film clips and photographs, actors speak the words of Mark Twain, Clara Barton and early church workers on Mrs. Eddy, with her words spoken by Julie Harris. Interspersed are present-day comments by theologians, feminists and writers on religion, on Mrs. Eddy's life and accomplishments, and on her place in history.

St. Charles Borromeo Parish of Montgomery Township will hold its seventh annual parish family picnic on Sunday from 2 to 7 at the Central Jersey Masonic Center, River Road, Rocky Hill.

The event will be chaired by Paul and Nonny Stahlin and John and Carol Koszyo. An outdoor Mass will be celebrated at 2 p.m. by the Rev. Gregory E. S. Malovetz, pastor. Immediately following will be a buffet, music, games and beverages.

Proceeds benefit the St. Charles Borromeo Scholarship Fund. This award of $500 for each year of college attendance is made to an outstanding graduating high school youth in the parish.

Tickets may be purchased at the picnic. For further information, call Paul Stahlin, (201) 359-2733.

There will be public discussion of the movie The Right Thing Thursday at 5:50 at Witherspoon Street Presbyterian Church. The discussion is sponsored by the Witherspoon Verse Speaking Choir and will be led by Talvin Wilks of Crossroads Theatre.

The Rev. Dr. Adrian A. McFarlane is pastor of the church.

The Rev. Donald Macleod, Francis L. Patton Professor of Preaching, emeritus, at Princeton Theological Seminary, will be the speaker Sunday at 10 at the Princeton University Chapel. The service will conclude the summer series of 10 a.m. worship services.

ON A QUIET PRINCETON CUL-DE-SAC, A CONTEMPORARY THAT PARTAKES OF THE WOODS ITSELF IN ITS DESIGN

Inside the welcome foyer is a spiral staircase with a living room with fireplace and cathedral ceiling to the right and a den with fireplace to the left. The formal dining room has both a bank of china cabinets plus a summer veranda. And the eat-in-kitchen has lots of light, massive beams and a large greenhouse at the work area plus a central island. Still, there is a full family room with bath and a ground floor bedroom for guests. Upstairs, is a spacious master suite with his and her studies plus a laundry room, as well, and yet two more bedrooms and a full bath. Cathedral ceilings abound in this gem with a sheer window wall on the woods which are left in the natural state. Space, quietness, beauty, and a fine communion with nature. $895,000

We Don't Meet Your High Standards... We Exceed Them.

The Yedlin Company
Classic Homes at Andrews-Foulet Princeton.

For over 40 years, The Yedlin Company has been constructing homes with standards that have earned it the reputation as the area's most trusted builder. Today, these standards continue at Andrews-Foulet II Princeton.

Located just five minutes from Palmer Square, off Cherry Hill Road in Princeton, the New England shingle-style homes at Andrews-Foulet are situated on a cul-de-sac street and offer three-car side-entry garages and professionally designed landscaping — complete with sodded lawns and irrigation systems.

The highly detailed interior architectural design of these Classic homes includes ten foot first floor ceiling heights, transoms and French doors, accented by marble entrance foyers, Marvin windows with "low-e" glass and Corian vanity tops. Every Andrews-Foulet kitchen is highlighted by custom designed cabinetry, granite island countertops and Subzero and Thermador appliances!

These exceptional four and five-bedroom homes range in size from 3,400 to 4,800 square feet, offer libraries and optional nanny's rooms, and are priced from $750,000.

Come see the quality of a Yedlin-built home. Visit Andrews-Foulet II Princeton. For more information, call our sales office at (609) 921-1928. We would be delighted to show you our furnished and unfurnished homes.

We believe that academic excellence later in life is largely due to an enthusiasm for learning inspired during the early years when a child's motivation is high and his/her chances for success are good. Students in our program in no way leave childhood behind for the sole purpose of intellectual growth. Rather, they celebrate the special gifts of their age: curiosity, flexibility, spontaneity, will, and wonder.

We do not discriminate against race, color or creed

TOP OF THE HILL — $390,000

51 Governors Lane, one of the great locations at the top of the hill, is now available at a great price — just $390,000.

The downstairs at 51 Governors Lane features a spacious great room with high ceilings, tall windows and fireplace. The stair hall connects with the family room/kitchen, which overlooks a private garden.

The graceful staircase leads to the second floor master and guest suites. The master suite features a sitting area with fireplace, master bath with Jacuzzi and shower, and large closet. The guest suite has its own bath with shower. Upstairs, two additional rooms with dormers and skylights may serve as bedrooms, study and sewing room, or storage. These rooms share a bath.

You can be in 51 Governors Lane by Thanksgiving! Now is the time to see this elegant Princeton townhouse. Governors Lane is just off Terhune Road. Stop by — we're open every day.

PEOPLE in the News

Cadet John R. Paul, son of Sol J. and Margaret R. Paul, 101 Library Place, received practical work in military leadership at the United States Army ROTC advanced camp, Fort Bragg, N.C.

The six-week camp, attended by cadets normally between their third and fourth year of college, includes instruction in communications, management, and survival training.

He is a 1986 graduate of Culver Military Academy, Culver, Ind.

Bernard J. McNamee

Julia M. Lyon of Ewing Street has been named assistant director of development at The Pennington School, with responsibility for alumni relations and publications. She comes to the school from Rohla Communications, where she was an associate, handling public relations for a variety of corporate accounts.

A drama major at Kenyon College, Ms. Lyon worked with the American Repertory Theatre in Cambridge, Mass., and for McCarter Theatre in Princeton. She also worked with a computer company in Boston, was hospitality coordinator for the Australian America's Cup challengers in 1983, and is an amateur saxophonist.

Mary Longman of the Princeton University League Nursery School has retired after 12 years as its director. Mrs. Longman taught 3-year-olds and 4-year-olds as well as directing the school's June and new July programs.

In her honor, the cooperative nursery school has established the Mary Longman Fund, which will buy new books for the school each year. Pam Betterton will begin as the school's new director at the opening of school in September.

Michelle Roman, daughter of George Roman of Princeton Junction and Alice Brzoska of Cranbury, has completed an internship through Lynchburg College, Va.

A 1986 graduate of West Windsor-Plainsboro High School, she is a senior health promotions major at the college.

Janet T. Reiche, of Princeton, a member of the Wells College board of trustees for six years, has been elected chair of the Wells board. She succeeds David Lascell, and is the first woman, as well as the first alumna, ever to serve in this capacity.

A 1952 Wells graduate, she is a former president of the Princeton Area Wells Club and the New Jersey Wells Club.

In addition to her work for Wells, Mrs. Reiche's political positions include the presidency of the Women's Republican Club and service as a board member of the New Jersey Federation of Republican Women. She has participated in a variety of volunteer activities in the Princeton area, including admissions work at the medical center, secretary of the Lawrenceville School Parents Association board, and member of the Social Action Committee of Nassau Presbyterian Church.

Jonathan S. Breslow, son of Mark Breslow, 163 Hampshire Drive, Plainsboro, has completed training in fundamental military skills at the Army ROTC Camp Challenge at Fort Knox, Ky.

Donna S. Bender, of Montgomery Township, has joined the staff of the Middlesex Somerset Mercer Regional Council (MSM) as a senior research associate. She will work on a project undertaken by the Council to study land use patterns along the Route 1 Corridor and their relationship to traffic.

MSM is a nonprofit, nonpartisan land use planning organization founded in 1968, dedicated to sound land use practices in the tri-county area.

Before coming to MSM, Ms. Bender was employed with Bellemead Development Corporation in Roseland as a project planner. She has also served as a planning analyst for the New Jersey State Planning Commission and as an economic analyst for the Port Authority of New York and New Jersey.

Matthew Henderson, son of John T. Henderson Jr. and Margaret A. Henderson, Harmony Creek Farm, Province Line Road, Skillman, will matriculate at Hamilton College this fall with the Class of 1993.

The Landis Group, has added Bernard J. McNamee to its marketing department. He previously worked for Radnor Corp. as director of office leasing for the Main Street development, a $250 million, mixed-use complex near Cherry Hill. He has also worked for The Linpro Company.

Mr. McNamee will be primarily responsible for the leasing of Nassau Park, the 187-acre Route 1 office park recently purchased by The Landis Group. The company has announced plans to develop Nassau Park, which currently consists of a 220,000-square-foot office building, as a multi-use project emphasizing R&D applications along with retail, office and hotel uses.
